$52.1 Million County Budget Wins Adoption

Last-Minute Flap Over Olympic Pool

By ERIK INGRAM

Marin County supervisors yesterday unanimously adopted a record $52.1 million budget after first blue penciling $750,000 worth of capital improvement projects to help cut the tax rate.

The 11th-hour cuts were spiced with a flareup between supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste and Robert A. Roumiguiere over where to locate the county's first 50-meter swimming pool.

The new spending program for fiscal 1974-75 is about $1.6 million more than the current budget and carries an estimated tax rate of $2.455 per $100 assessed valuation.

That tax rate is 12.5 cents less than the current rate but provides more money for the budget because of increased assessed valuation in property in Marin. As it stands, most Marinites, whose homes were reappraised this year, will pay more county taxes than they did this year.

Auditor-controller Michael Mitchell cautioned that the tax rate is only tentative and could change after final budget adjustments next month.

Adoption of the budget ended seven days of hearings. The spending plan approved is $100,000 less than the $52.2 million budget proposed by county administrator John F. Barrows.

The clash between Baptiste and Roumiguiere was touched off as a majority of the board agreed to postpone funding for an Olympic-sized pool at John F. McInnis Park and to join with the college district in funding one at Indian Valley Colleges.

The delay at McInnis Park was recommended by parks director Pierre W. Joske, who said that the park construction is proceeding more slowly than expected due to the time it took to prepare the park master plan and environmental impact report.

Supervisors, promising to fund the pool next year, agreed unanimously to shift some of the funds to other improvements at the new park.

At that point, Baptiste urged approval of a recommendation from Barrows that the county help finance 50-meter pool at the college campus.

That recommendation, that the county contribute $100,000 this year and another $170,000 next year, was protested by Roumiguiere.

"I don't think the taxpayers can afford the luxury of two 50-meter pools and this board has agreed that one pool should be built at McInnis," he said.

He said a large pool at the college campus could mean that there will be no pool at McInnis "and the public wants it there."

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini sided with Roumiguiere, saying the financial crunch of financing two pools would be unbearable in the future.

"I'm damned if I know where we are going to get $1 million for two pools in the next couple of years," he said.

Baptiste, whose recent reelection campaign included promises of a pool at the college campus, pleaded that two Olympic pools would be of great value to the county.

He drew support from chairman Michael Wornum and later won the necessary third vote from colleague Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. by agreeing to delete $100,000 from a $200,000 allocation to Stafford Lake Park in Novato.

"This is crucial to me. Take anything you want from my district (to offset the cost) but I'm not willing to delay this," Baptiste said, adding the only thing he would not give up was a $26,579 allocation to the Novato human needs center.

"I have no problem with funding a pool at McInnis but for a small amount of money we can have two pools," he added.

"We don't need two pools," Roumiguiere snapped, noting

Colson To Prison For Ellsberg Break-In Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles W. Colson, President Nixon's former special counsel, was sentenced to a minimum of one year in prison and fined $5,000 today for obstruction of justice in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Colson told U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that on the repeated urgings of the President, he had attempted to defame Daniel Ellsberg and destroy his credibility before Ellsberg's trial for making public the secret Pentagon Papers on origins and conduct of the Vietnam War.

A presentencing report to Gesell by a probation officer had recommended a prison term. Colson's counsel and law partner, David I. Shapiro, blamed the recommendation on a campaign of "the most pernicious, deliberate leaks" by government bodies and officials to discredit his client.

"You're barking up the wrong tree, Mr. Shapiro," Gesell replied to Shapiro. "The public expectation has nothing to do with what I'm about to do. You're beating a dead horse."

Gesell turned down Shapiro's impassioned plea to spare the 42-year-old Colson from going to prison. Colson will surrender July 8 at a federal prison yet to be designated.

He will serve at least one year and not more than three years under Gesell's sentence.

Before the sentencing, Colson also made a long plea to the court, including this statement: "As to the specific charges, the President on numerous occasions urged me to disseminate damaging information about Daniel Ellsberg, including information about Ellsberg's attorney and others with whom Ellsberg had been in close contact."

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. War-

Nixon Lawyers Say Probe Clouds Impeachment Quiz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's attorneys argued to the Supreme Court today that Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski was developing impeachment evidence against Nixon. They said that responsibility rested solely with the House of Representatives.

The argument was put forth in a 149-page brief seeking to overturn a lower federal court decision requiring Nixon to produce 64 additional presidential tapes and documents sought by Jaworski for trial of former Nixon associates on Watergate coverup charges.

Both Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, and Jaworski filed briefs to meet today's deadline before the Supreme Court hears oral arguments July 8 on whether Nixon can withhold the materials.

St. Clair said that since the special prosecutor's office was turning over to Congress any information bearing on its impeachment inquiry, upholding Jaworski's subpoena would produce evidence for the House Judiciary Committee that Congress could not obtain by its own procedures.

"There has been a fusion of two entirely different proceedings; one, the criminal proceedings involving various individual defendants and the other the impeachment proceeding involving the President," St. Clair said. "The first lies in the courts; the second lies in the Congress."

The brief said Jaworski's office had strengthened the fusion by "utilizing the unsubstantiated, unprecendented and clearly unconstitutional device of naming the President as an unindicted co-conspirator in the criminal cases."

The basic argument in the White House brief was that the Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case and did "not have the power to substitute its judgment for that of the President" on the matter of disclosing confidential presidential communications.

In his brief, Jaworski said that giving Nixon "the absolute privilege" of determining what material should be released

Supervisors Vote Selves 10 Pct. Hike

Marin County Supervisors voted 4 to 1 yesterday to increase their salaries from $16,800 to $18,480 per year.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere opposed the action, saying it represented too high an increase. He urged the 10 per cent hike be cut to 7.5 per cent.

"It would be a gesture to holding the line on spending," he said, adding it would be below the amount given most employees.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who moved approval of the 10 per cent hike, said the "majority of thinking people" would agree supervisors are management employees and entitled to the same cost-of-living increase given other top officials.

The board also voted unanimously to approve $186,000 worth of raises to 80 top officials. (The figures include supervisors' raises.)

Environmental Coordinator Thomas Severns, whose current salary of about $1,400 per month was increased to $1,720 on Tuesday when he was elevated to department head status, received another increase yesterday to $1,892 a month.

In its report on the salaries in Wednesday's issue, the Independent-Journal erred in saying County Administrator John F. Barrows' salary will jump 17 per cent.

His current salary is $32,544 per year and will go to $37,428 in July, which is 15 per cent increase.

"The Independent-Journal has recommended an additional 2 per cent increase," he quipped yesterday to supervisors.

Jury Weighs Assault Verdict In Crowe Post-Election Fray

A seven-man, five-woman jury today began weighing evidence in the Robert Eyre Crowe felony assault trial.

Jurors retired at 10:43 a.m. to begin deliberations following final instructions from Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick.

Crowe, 37, fired last week as Fairfax Town Administrator, is charged with hitting a 19-year-old Fairfax youth, Kenneth M. Davidson, with an ax during a post-election fight March 6.

In final arguments yesterday, Crowe's attorney, Richard V. Timan, described his client as the defender in the fight, and Davidson as the aggressor.

Crowe is a "responsible, mature individual, not a little punk who goes around looking for a fight," said Timan.

In the prosecution's closing argument, deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas told jurors that at no time on March 6 was Crowe really endangered by Davidson, who was waving a beer bottle at the administrator.

Only had such danger existed could Crowe have been justified in defending himself and Roberta Laidley with a double-bladed ax, said Thomas.

The Crowe-Davidson fight took place on the street in front of Mrs. Laidley's house after a town council election in which two of Crowe's council supporters lost their seats.

Much of yesterday's session was occupied by a demonstration by Crowe and Thomas on how the administrator wielded the ax during the fight.

When Davidson first came at him with the bottle, Crowe said, he picked up the ax and held it in front of him at waist level.

But as the teen closed in, Crowe said, he dropped the ax to his right side, then lifted it and swung it in an arc at Davidson as the youth brought the bottle down on Crowe's head.

It was that swing of the ax that made a three-inch gash in the small of Davidson's back, said Crowe.

But Thomas contended a blow that penetrated Davidson's belt, jacket, shirt, jeans and underwear would have had to have been swung with both hands.

Crowe admitted swinging the ax with the intent of hitting Davidson, but said he didn't intend to cut him.

Meat Down; Other Foods Lead Living Cost Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sharply higher prices for fresh fruit and vegetables led general food and fuel increases which helped boost America's cost of living by 1.1 per cent in May, the government reported today.

The increase was the same as March, and reversed a slight downward trend in April when the rate of rise slowed to 0.6 per cent.

Price boosts were recorded in a wide range of consumer goods and services, including used cars, apparel, gasoline and housekeeping services.

Food prices to consumers advanced almost 1 per cent in the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area during May, the Department of Labor said today.

Figures released by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics showed food up 0.9 per cent for May to a level of 153.6, based on 100 in 1967. This was 13.6 per cent above the level a year ago.

The Consumer Price Index rose to 145.6, which meant that prices were 10.7 per cent higher in May this year than in May, 1973, and that it cost $14.56 to buy the same goods and services that could be obtained for $10 about seven years ago.

Prices for commodities other than food increased 1.6 per cent

Ellsberg Burglar Released From Jail

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Egil Krogh, convicted for his part in the break-in at Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, was released from prison today after serving more than four months of a six-month sentence.

Krogh served his sentence at the minimum security Allenwood federal prison camp but was taken to a detention facility at Fort Holabird outside Baltimore more than a week ago.

Nixon's Confidence Rating Decline Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's positive rating with the public dropped to 26 per cent in early June — prior to his Mideast trip —from 32 per cent in May, according to the Louis Harris organization.

The Harris poll conducted June 1-4 among 1,413 households showed Nixon with a 71 per cent negative rating on his performance, and 55 per cent of those interviewed disagreed with the proposition that Nixon is "a man of high integrity." This was a rise from 50 per cent in May.

Sikkim's King Loses Powers To Assembly

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The King of the Himalayan country of Sikkim, whose marriage to New York socialite Hope Cooke broke up after 10 years, lost most of his constitutional powers Friday and became a virtual figurehead.

The mountain kingdom's newly elected National Assembly last night adopted an Indian-authored constitution which severely reduces the powers of King Palden Thondup Namgyal, 52, and gives India the right to name key officials in the new government.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Mideast Oil Mission Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon plans to visit Saudi Arabia in mid-July to continue discussions on economic and technical help for the oil-producing nation.

Simon

He announced the planned visit after a one-hour meeting he and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held late yesterday with Saudi Arabian petroleum minister Zaki Yamani.

Following the meeting, Yamani restated his country's desire to lower oil prices, contrary to the wishes of most of the other oil-producing countries. He said, "We are against raising prices. We are in favor of lower prices." This was an argument he pursued in a recent meeting in Ecuador of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

Yamani said Saudi Arabia was working on a new arrangement with the management of Aramco, the Arabian American Oil Co. which is owned partly by U.S. oil producers.

Doctrine First

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Southern Presbyterians yesterday voted to return to committee a statement recommending amnesty for Vietnam War resisters and decided instead to concentrate on theological doctrine at their 114th General Assembly.

The 436 commissioners of the 900,000-member Presbyterian Church in the U.S. approved for study by local Presbyterians a proposed Book of Confessions containing a controversial, modern-language 8,000-word Declaration of Faith.

Civilian Located

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — An unemployed American civilian reported missing and feared captured by Communists in southern Cambodia was located today in the port of Kompong Som, U.S. embassy officials said.

The man was identified as Ronald Russell Sanderson, 31, of Long Beach, who had been in Cambodia for about a year.

French businessmen in Kompong Som reported earlier that Khmer Rouge troops had abducted Sanderson as he rode a taxi just outside the city 144 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Back At Work

CHICAGO (UPI) — Striking United Auto Workers went back to work on the midnight shift today at a suburban Ford Motor Co. plant after voting 4-to-1 to accept a new contract. Nearly 30,000 idled workers at 12 other plants were to be called back to work next week.

Company and union spokesmen said the estimated 5,000 workers who struck the plant June 11 began returning to work after midnight yesterday. Balloting on the settlement reached Wednesday took place last night.

Ford laid off workers at 12 other plants because of the strike, since the Chicago Heights plant produces parts vital to production.

Ford said it planned to begin recalling the idled workers next week, as soon as the stamping plant resumes full production.

Envoy Status

BONN (UPI) — West and East Germany have found a way of living with each other without giving up their differing views on whether Germany is one nation divided or two separate states.

The two Germanys exchanged envoys yesterday, but, to skirt the controversy on whether two separate states should be fully recognized, the diplomats were given the titles of "head of permanent mission" instead of ambassadors.

Former Chancellor Willy Brandt insisted on this nomenclature.

Crisis In England

LONDON (UPI) — Back-to-back rejections of major bills in Parliament and a forced surrender on a consumer issue could spell the end for Prime Minister Harold Wilson's 15-week-old Labor government, British politicians said today.

Although Wilson was noncommittal, one Labor leader indicated the party's inability to win crucial votes and enact its proposals might force the prime minister to dissolve the government and call new elections.

Eagles Dying

AUGUSTA, Me. (UPI) — A government scientist says there is strong evidence that American bald eagles are dying off in Maine because of high levels of pesticide use around the world.

"We know there are some large accumulations of pesticides in organisms near large bodies of water, such as the ocean," said Francis J. Gramlich of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "Tests of both the eagles and their eggs over the past six years consistently point to the pesticide residues.

Pest Invasion

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — Swarms of hungry caterpillars have stripped the leaves off thousands of trees in central Manitoba, and farmers report the hordes are starting to invade their homes.

A spokesman for the Mantioba Agriculture Department yesterday said the pests are five inches deep in some areas.

Calley Spends Night In Stockade, Alone In Block

FORT BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William Calley, ordered back into military custody yesterday by a federal judge, was issued nondescript fatigues and spent the night in the post stockade, marking only the fourth night he has been behind bars since his My Lai murder conviction in 1971.

U.S. Asst. Atty. Charles Erion said the former platoon leader would be treated "just like any other prisoner ... (and) put in a jail cell."

But Kenneth Henson, one of Calley's attorneys, said his client had, in effect, been put in solitary confinement.

"There's no one else in his cellblock," Henson said.

John Gause, army public information officer, said the 30-year-old Miami native would be allowed recreational periods and provided access to books and a television set.

Calley carried his briefcase solemnly into the stockade to prepare for another hearing Monday before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott on the appeal of his conviction of murdering 22 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet in 1968.

If Calley must be confined, his attorneys would rather see him sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

"As far as we're concerned, the quicker they (military authorities) take him and process him at Fort Leavenworth, the better off he will be," Henson said. "We've been pleading for several years — longer than I've been on the case — for the military to give him a meaningful task to occupy his time, and they still haven't done it."

Calley surrendered two minutes before the 3 p.m. deadline and was ushered into the stockade 10 minutes later.

The masonry facility, ringed by a 10-foot high fence topped with barbed wire, was Calley's residence for three nights just after his 1971 court martial conviction. After a public outcry, President Nixon ordered Calley be held in his quarters under house arrest until the appeals process ended.

"I think he took it amazingly well," said Henson. "There was no bitterness nor was he overjoyed."

New Threat On Mideast Air Raids

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Syria warned today it would not tolerate new Israeli air raids against southern Lebanon, but Israel vowed to continue its campaign to wipe out Palestinian guerrilla bases.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said the Israeli and Arab positions on a peace settlement were so wide apart that negotiations now were impossible.

In Damascus, a Syrian official said his government would not stay neutral in the Israeli air attacks in south Lebanon.

"Syria will not remain with its hands folded in the face of the barbaric shellings by Israel against innocent civilians in southern Lebanon and hopes that other Arab countries will also shoulder their responsibilities," the official said.

The official, however, did not elaborate on any action planned by the government. Israel and Syria are only five days away from a complete troop pullback in the Golan Heights.

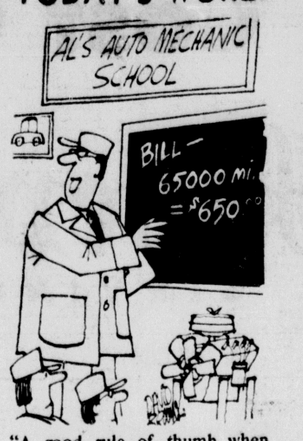

In Jerusalem, the Israeli foreign ministry said the attacks against guerrilla targets was part of a continuing policy intended to "hit the organizations which initiate the murder of Israeli civilians and to foil their schemes."

Rabin said yesterday more time was necessary to test Egyptian and Syrian intentions before peace talks could begin.

In Israel's latest air attacks yesterday, the heaviest action against Lebanon in a month, Palestinian guerrilla officials said 27 persons were killed.

The Israeli military command said the attacks retaliated for a guerrilla attack on the frontier settlement of Shamir that killed three women and the four raiders during President Nixon's Middle East tour.

TODAY'S WORLD

"A good rule of thumb when billing is to take the mileage reading and mark off two decimal places."

Nixon Takes Anniversary Time Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, midway ttrough a whirlwind diplomatic effort in the face of threatened impeachment, set aside time to relax with his wife at Camp David today on their 34th wedding anniversary.

White House officials said Nixon probably would remain at the Maryland retreat through the weekend to rest up after his rigorous Middle East trip and to get ready for summit talks next week with Soviet leaders in Moscow and meetings with U.S. allies at NATO headquarters in Brussels.

The First Family planned a small party later today to mark the Nixons' wedding anniversary.

Infiltration

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist agents disguised as monks and nuns are infiltrating into Saigon to take part in a planned wave of terrorism in the South Vietnamese capital, a government spokesman said today.

Mideast Pledges Cost To Be High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bill for economic and military aid agreements President Nixon made during his Middle East trip isn't in yet, but it is sure to run into the billions of dollars over a period of years.

During his journey Nixon committed the United States to a series of long term aid programs, including one, for Egypt, that runs into the 1980s.

Exactly how much they will cost may only become known over a period of years as annual administration aid requests to Congress are made public. The White House has given no cost figure for the package.

Among the programs announced in White House documents during the trip:

Egypt: The President agreed to "help strengthen the financial structure of Egypt"; sell Egypt a major new nuclear energy program for peaceful purposes; provide space technology, which White House spokesmen said means satellite communications; participate in the reconstruction and development of the Suez Canal and the cities along its banks, and provide "the latest agricultural technology."

Israel: Nixon committed the United States to continuing long-term arms deliveries and to "substantial economic assistance ... at levels needed to assist Israel to offset the heavy additional costs" of maintaining its military establishment. The Israelis will also get nuclear reactors, space technology, a water desalination project and U.S. help in assuring a continued flow of oil and raw materials.

Jordan: The President announced no immediate new commitments, but the communique said he had "explained in detail" the administration's current aid request to Congress for military and economic assistance and "promised a special effort by the U.S. government to provide support in a variety of ways for Jordan's development efforts."

Syria: "President (Hafez) Assad and I have agreed that our governments will review and develop further concrete ways in which the United States and Syria can work more closely for their mutual benefit," Nixon said. "A senior Syrian official will visit Washington in the near future to discuss specific plans to accomplish this goal."

Saudi Arabia: "His Majesty (King Faisal) and I have also reviewed the efforts by the United States to assist Saudi Arabia in maintaining its defense forces," the President commented. The two countries had agreed the week before to set up a new joint economic commission.

Israeli sources said during Nixon's visit that the Jerusalem government is looking for something on the order of $1.5 billion a year in military aid alone. A report from Jerusalem yesterday said the Israelis are hoping the United State can pick up about half the $17 billion foreign exchange deficit they expect to run in the next four years. That would mean at least an extra $500 million in economic aid annually.

The reference to strengthening Egypt's financial structure, including a rush trip there by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, suggests that major short-term infusions of money are likely.

Aid to Jordan and Syria is not likely to run to that kind of money. Both are much smaller countries and neither is in the desperate financial straits of Egypt.

Campsite Reservations Begin Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new system by which persons can reserve campsites at 21 National Parks by telephone will begin operation Sunday, a week later than originally announced.

James Rossi, a partner in Park Reservations System Inc., said Wednesday the National Park Service was incorrect in announcing that the telephone service would start June 15.

Rossi said the reservation system was taken by surprise by the Park Service announcement and immediately put its two telephone numbers into operation. Campers who call before June 23 will be sent campsite information and application forms for mailing.

Park Reservation System Inc. has been awarded a five-year contract to handle reservations for some 9,500 campsites, effective July 1.

Rossi said telephone applications can be made beginning Sunday by calling the toll-free number 800-553-8425 or 319-363-0221, a toll-charge number.

Telephone reservations will be confirmed immediately if charged to either Bank-Americard or Master Charge credit cards. Otherwise they will be confirmed only after payment is made by mail.

Applications for campsite reservations may be mailed to Park Reservation System, P.O. Box 1976, Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52406 or to any of the 21 parks in the reservation system.

The applicant should include advance payment of the $2 reservation fee and the campsite rental fees, if he knows how much they will be.

Mailed applications should specify the camper's planned arrival and departure dates, the park and camping area requested, the type of camping equipment to be used and the number of campers involved.

After July 1, campers present in any of the 21 parks can make reservations and pay fees on the spot for any of the other parks within the reservation system.

The National Parks included in the system are Acadia, Everglades, Grand Canyon, Grand Teton, Yellowstone, Yosemite, Platt, Assateague, Blue Ridge Parkway, Cape Hatteras Seashore, Catoctin, Crater Lake, Glacier, Great Smoky Mountains, Greenbelt, Gulf Islands, Mammoth Cave, Prince William Forest, Rocky Mountain, Sequoia and Shenandoah.

Fees Again For Camping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Park Service will collect campground fees again in nine national park areas in California, Nevada and Arizona this weekend.

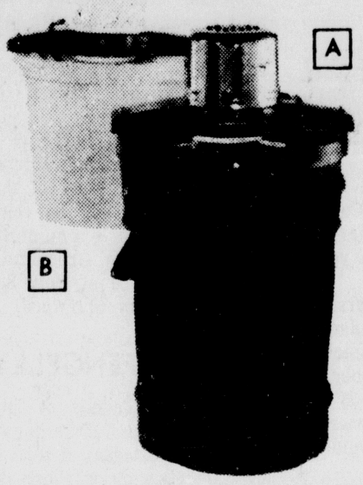

Howard H. Chapman, Western regional Parks director, said today the daily fees will range from $1 to $4, depending upon accommodations. Some campgrounds in some parks will be free.

Fees will be charged at Yosemite, Lassen Volcanic, Sequoia-Kings Canyon and Grand Canyon National parks; Lake Mead and Whiskeytown national recreation areas, and Pinnacles and Chircahua national monuments.

Demo Brands Nixon's Tax Report As 'Lies'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N. J., emerged from a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings and said today tax returns President Nixon signed for 1969 through 1972 were "a bunch of lies."

Rangel said the President should be subpoenaed to appear before the committee —or at least be sent written questions —to say whether he knew the tax returns were inaccurate.

"It is clear he signed a bunch of lies," Rangel told reporters. "If this committee does not question this taxpayer ... then we will not have done our work."

But Republican members of the impeachment inquiry insisted anew their examination of Nixon's returns produced no evidence of tax fraud. "There was absolutely no fraud," said Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio. "The whole thing is a tempest in a teapot," said Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif.

The committee took a second look today at the President's tax problems after being told that the Internal Revenue Service quietly imposed a penalty of about $13,000 on him for negligent preparation of his returns.

Members of the impeachment inquiry said they also learned that while Nixon has paid his overdue taxes for 1970 through 1973, he has still not paid back taxes for 1969.

Since the statute of limitations had expired for the 1969 taxes, the President could not be required to pay them, but he said previously he would voluntarily pay up.

The IRS' figure for 1969 is secret, but Congress' Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation estimated the 1969 underpayment at $171,055.

"The President plans to pay all the amounts that he said he would, including that for 1969," a White House spokesman said, "and he is making his payments on schedule."

When members of the Judiciary Committee complained yesterday that the staff had raced through the tax matter, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., agreed to further examination at today's closed session.

Also up today is a review of the secret bombing of neutral Cambodia —a serious impeachable offense in the eyes of some erstwhile Vietnam doves here.

The committee divided along party lines on the question of whether impeachable misconduct could be charged to Nixon for underpaying his taxes from 1969 through 1972 by $432,787.

COURT

"would lead to intolerable abuse."

"The President cannot be a proper judge of whether the greater public interest lies in disclosing evidence subpoenaed for a trial, when that evidence may have a material bearing on whether he is impeached," Jaworski said.

Jaworski said the tapes cover "evidence which is demonstrably material to the trial of charges of conspiracy to defraud the United States and obstruct justice by former aides and associates of the President."

St. Clair, in arguments similar to those put forth by the White House in the past, told the Supreme Court that if Jaworski's arguments were to prevail, "the constitutional balance would be altered in a way that no one alive today could predict or measure."

St. Clair's brief contended that under the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers, the courts were without jurisdiction to intervene in what he called an "intrabranch dispute" between the President and Jaworski, who technically works for him.

"The duty to determine whether disclosure of confidential presidential communications is in the public interest has not been, and cannot be, delegated to the special prosecutor," St. Clair said.

The White House lawyers also argued that Nixon should not have been named an unindicted co-conspirator on grounds he is not subject to normal criminal processes. They said such action also prejudices the ongoing impeachment inquiry.

"In light of the grand jury's finding of probable cause to believe that the President was a co-conspirator ... and that the subpoenaed conversations in all probability occurred during the course of and in furtherance of the conspiracy, the conversations relating to Watergate cannot be shielded by privilege," Jaworski's brief said concerning that argument.

Nixon's attorneys argued that the court should not forward its findings to the House Judiciary Committee which is studying Nixon's impeachment. Such a move would "represent an expansion of the court's jurisdiction into the impeachment process that the Constitution assigns solely to the House of Representatives."

Church Seeks To Uphold Judaism

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians are moving toward a revamped declaration of belief that would affirm the continuing validity of Judaism.

It may be the first time a Christian denomination ever has officially taken such a stand.

In a first step toward authorizing the creed, the governing assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. Southern, voted yesterday to relay the declaration to local presbyteries for their reactions.

The proposed statement will be brought back before the assembly next year for legislative decision-making.

At present, the church's basic doctrinal summation is the centuries-old Westminster Confession of 1647. The affirmation of Judaism would be added to it.

Human Skull Is Found By Youth

A human skull was found near the Mill Valley Golf Course yesterday, and the coroner's office said it probably belonged to a girl 6 to 8 years of age.

Mill Valley police reported that the skull was discovered by Kevin Aureguy, 17, of 107 Country Club Drive, Mill Valley, in the weeds on the side of the road at Buena Vista and Circle avenues.

Also found there were other bones, bits of human hair and dried tissue.

A coroner's spokesman said it was not known how long the bones had been at the site.

Watermelon Is Bandit's Weapon

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police arrested Stanley Glover yesterday after he allegedly robbed the Illinois State Bank armed with a half-eaten watermelon.

Police said Glover, 23, an unemployed ex-serviceman, robbed the bank of $12,000, then began distributing the money on the street. He was carrying $8,970 when apprehended, police said.

Officers said Glover got the money by threatening a teller with a "bomb" in a brown paper bag. Police said they found only the watermelon inside.

BUDGET

Joske hadn't recommended the second pool.

After additional trading, cutting and adding, the board voted 4-to-1 to approve the $3 million capital improvement program. Roumiguiere voted against the motion.

The largest item approved was $900,000 for development of the fairgrounds. Asst. county administrator Thomas F. Campanella, who serves as fairgrounds coordinator, requested $2.1 million to complete the fairgrounds, but did not push the matter. Barrows recommended $1,041,000.

Other items approved included $375,000 for completing office space on the top floor of the Hall of Justice, $266,000 for a microwave relay system, $700,000 for development of McInnis Park, $132,000 for bicycle and hiking trails, and $100,000 for Hall of Justice landscaping.

On other budget matters yesterday, Mitchell told the board about $380,000 could be deleted. He said the funds were left over from the amount budgeted for salary increases to employees prior to negotiations.

Some $24,000 was given to Home Start, a program which is similar to the Head Start preschool program, but concentrates on training parents to work with their children.

Also budgeted was $5,750 for Big Brothers of Marin, $8,195 for the YMCA youth employment service and $18,000 for the Fairfax-San Anselmo Child Care Center.

Rejected were requests from the Sausalito School District for $81,951 to offset costs of educating in unincorporated areas like Marin City , $24,000 for a new building for Marin Lodge and $20,000 for a charity animal care program urged by the Animal Medical Care Foundation of Marin.

The county human relations department was funded at $127,020, up from the current $95,025, while the county recorder's office received $194,609, up from the current $179,663.

Bay Industrial Permits Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Plans for two large waterfront industrial projects were revealed for the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The Port of Oakland asked permission Thursday to construct a $15 million, 2,000-foot-long wharf capable of handling 1.5 million tons of containerized cargo a year.

In the other project, the City of Vallejo proposed developing a 200-acre industrial park along Mare Island Channel. The site would be leased partly to Kaiser Steel Corp. for assembling offshore oil rigs while the other part would be used by Peter Kiewit Sons for mooring marine construction equipment.

The commission delayed a vote on the projects until July 18.

Milk Producers Propose Pact

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Attempting to remove "an unfair legal burden" to dairy farmers, the board of Associated Milk Producers Inc. has stepped closer to an out-of-court settlement in a federal antitrust case.

An executive of the nation's largest milk cooperative and a dairyman who is a member of the co-op's legal committee confirmed yesterday that the board has approved a proposed consent decree.

If the decree is accepted by the Justice Department and by the presiding judge, the complicated case won't come to trial.

Housing Control Bill Approved By House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has approved a housing and community development bill designed to give local governments control over how federal housing money is spent in their communities.

The bill, which would authorize more than $11 billion in expenditures, now must be reconciled with a Senate-passed measure that would maintain much stronger federal control over local housing decisions.

Protection Advised For Ford's Family

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service protection of the vice president's family has been recommended by the House Appropriations Committee. The vice president himself now has protection, but not members of his family.

In a report, the committee said, "Recent acts of terrorism and violence emphasize the need for this protection and the committee strongly recommends that it be approved."

Driver Held On Hitting Patrol Car

A San Anselmo man was arrested today on supicion of felony drunken driving after his panel truck reportedly slammed into the rear of a sheriff's patrol car and two deputies were injured.

Stephen Charles Andrews, 28, of 191 Redwood Avenue, was held in county jail in lieu of $1,250 bail. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Deputies Robert Guelfi and Steven Kane, both 27, had pulled over a motorist at 2:25 a.m. and were issuing a traffic ticket on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of San Geronimo Valley Road. Andrew's truck barreled into the rear of the patrol car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The truck, traveling east at about 35 miles per hour, carromed off the sheriff's car, in which Kane was sitting, and sideswiped the second auto while Guelfi was writing the ticket, the patrol reported.

Both officers were treated for minor injuries at Kaiser Hospital and released.

COST

in May compared to a 1.3 per cent rise in April.

Prices at groceries usually turn down in May but they rose last month for most items except meats, poultry and eggs. Those continued to decline so steadily that some producers claim they face financial disaster if prices do not go up soon.

Fresh vegetable prices zoomed upward in May by 19 per cent, much more than normal. Meat, poultry and fish prices declined 3.5 per cent from April.

Used cars increased 10.1 per cent, and new car prices — which usually decline in May — also went up. Clothing prices also increased more than usual for May.

Gasoline and motor oil continued to rise but slower than they had earlier in the year.

Doctor fees and charges for other medical services such as eye examinations, laboratory tests and hospital rooms showed large increases in May. More rapid increases than in recent months also were recorded for services such as dry cleaning, shoe repairs, laundries, and barber and beauty shop services.

Compared to a year ago, prices for fuel oil and coal were 63.2 per cent higher, for cereal and bakery products 34.6 per cent higher, for gasoline and motor oil 41.2 per cent higher.

Desegregation Plans Accepted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare today accepted college desegregation plans from eight states, but served notice it will seek legal action against Mississippi to eliminate a dual system of higher education.

Peter E. Holmes, director of HEW's office of Civil Rights, said the department has found the college plans submitted by Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Virginia to be acceptable for meeting provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Although Mississippi submitted a "good plan" for its four year colleges, the state's 16 public junior colleges failed to even offer a desegregation plan.

Post Office Suffers Budget Punishment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal support of the independent U.S. Postal Service was trimmed $148 million by the House Appropriations Committee yesterday below last year's appropriation.

In a report, the committee expressed irritation at the mail agency's "unresponsiveness to the requirements of the public as expressed directly and through the Congress and the slowness and unreliability of mail service."

Sewerage Agency Announces Budget

The Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency has approved a budget of $90,000 — down $17,000 from last year — according to administrative officer John T. Schulte.

The cost will be divided among the nine southern Marin sanitary agencies enrolled in the study of a consolidated waste treatment system, and will pay fees for financial, engineering, and environmental consultants.

COLSON

ren said when asked about Colson's statement, "I really don't have any comment."

In discussing the sentence, Warren used the occasion to decry again news leaks about Watergate and the impeachment inquiries. He said Colson was being sent to prison for "exactly the same felony that members of the Senate Watergate committee committed for more than a year and that some members of the House Judiciary Committee are committing daily."

In pleading guilty June 3, Colson admitted "devising and implementing a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg. He could have received up to five years' imprisonment.

Colson said he decided to plead guilty as a result of his conversion to Christianity.

Outside the courtroom after his sentencing today, Colson, sometimes known as White House poltical hatchet man during his days in the administration, was still wearing a presidential tie clasp with Nixon's signature etched on it.

He told newsmen he felt people did not understand why he had pleaded guilty and said:

"I did it because in my own heart I felt perhaps I could help protect other defendants against their individual rights being abused when they are defendants in trials. And what's going on in this country now in terms of interferring with a defendant's right to a fair trial has got to be stopped.

"If my plea and my sentence will serve as a symbol that will stop it and stop people's individual rights being abused, I hope it will have served a worthy cause."

He added: "I have committed my life to Jesus Christ. I can work for the Lord in prison or out of prison. That's how I want to spend my life. And what happened today is the Lord's will and the court's will, and I, of course, accept that fully."

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and other members of Colson's prayer group sat in the front row of the courtroom with heads bowed as Colson read his pre-sentence statement saying:

"I had one rule: to get done what the President wanted done now. I never really questioned whether it was right or wrong."

In exchange for Colson's guilty plea and a pledge of cooperation in future trials, Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to drop conspiracy charges against him in the 1971 break-in of the office of the Ellsberg's psychiatrist as well as other charges in the Watergate cover-up case.

Fairfax Council Sifts Applicants

The Fairfax Town Council met last night in closed session to begin the job of sifting through 112 applications for the post of city administrator.

By the sessions' end, 14 candidates emerged as favorites in a group of about 40 applicants remaining in contention, councilmen said.

Hub Youth Center Will Open Monday

A youth center sponsored by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department will open Monday at Isabel Cook School for junior and senior high students.

The center, located in the school's multipurpose room, will be open from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily through the summer, according to a parks spokesman.

GI Bill Turns 30 Years Old Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GI Bill of Rights, the law to provide medical, financial and home-buying help for veterans, is 30 years and 30 billion dollars old today.

The American Legion has scheduled a commemmorative ceremony in Room 570 of Washington's Mayflower Hotel, where it says the bill was drafted. The invited guests include the 23 House and Senate members who were in Congress when the bill was first passed.

The Servicemen's Readjustment Act was drawn in 1943, while America was still fighting. It would give veterans up to $500 in mustering out pay, increase the facilities of the Veterans Administration and set up the now-famous programs of educational assistance and guaranteed home loans.

Passage was not easy. A conference committee was deadlocked on the bill's language in 1944 and the deciding vote, Rep. John Gibson, D-Ga., was at home sick. He drove 150 miles through driving rain, caught a plane, and strode into the room where the conference committee met.

"Americans are dying in Normandy in the greatest invasion in all history and anyone who dares to cast a vote against this bill should be published to all the world," Gibson said. "I'm going to hold a press conference after this meeting and I'm going to expose anyone who doesn't vote for the GI Bill of Rights."

The committee vote was unanimous. President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the measure June 22, 1944. It was extended for Korean War veterans in 1952 and for Vietnam-era servicemen in 1966.

Since its passage, 15 million veterans have received $29 billion in education and training payments and more than 8.5 million have received more than $103 billion from banks for home loans guaranteed by the VA.

Today, though, the veterans are saying that money isn't enough. The Senate on Wednesday passed a bill to increase GI Bill benefits by 18 per cent — from $220 to $260 a month for a single veteran —along with special help to defray tuition costs.

Sen. Vance Hartke, head of the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee, estimated the increase would cost about $1.9 billion a year. He estimated that nearly 1.7 million veterans would receive educational benefits in the school year that begins this fall.

The VA is facing strains as well, strains that led to the resignation of administrator Donald Johnson earlier this year. The World War II veterans are now beginning to need hospital care and the American Veterans Movement, which claims 6,000 members, staged a sit-in at the offices of Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., a member of the House Veterans' Committee.

Ron Kovic, an AVM member, also said the group will stage a "second bonus march" on Washington this summer to demand improved conditions and benefits. He said AVM expects to set up a tent city in Lafayette Park across from the White House on July 4, reminiscent of the 1932 protest of World War I veterans.

Lettuce Growers, Cooperatives Facing Price Fixing Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) yesterday accused 22 California lettuce growers and their cooperatives of conspiring to fix prices and drive up the cost of lettuce to the consumer.

Named in the complaint were the Central California Lettuce Producers Cooperative of Salinas, and its growers who during 1973 turned out 20 million cartons of lettuce.

The complaint alleges that since May, 1972, when the cooperative was formed, the growers "engaged in a plan, policy or course of action, the purpose of which is to fix, control, establish or maintain the prices, or price ranges, or price floors, or price ceilings" for lettuce.

In May of last year, the complaint adds, the growers entered into a written agreement to sell lettuce only within a price range established on a weekly or daily basis by the cooperative.

The result of the agreement, the FTC said is that competition has been supressed and lettuce prices have been maintained at artificial levels beyond which the normal forces of the market place would have dictated.

The growers named in the complaint, all from the Salinas unless otherwise noted:

Admiral Packing Co.; Hansen Farms; California Coastal Farms, Inc. Carl Joseph Maggio, Inc., King City, Calif.; DiArrigo Bros. Co. of California; Eckel Produce Co.; Green Valley Produce Co-op; Growers Exchange, Inc.; Harden Farms of California; J. R. Norton Co.; Jack T. Baillie Co., Inc.; Let-Us-Pak; Merit Packing Co.; Merrill Farms; Pacific Lettuce; R. T. Englund; Royal Packing Co.; Salinas Lettuce Farmers Cooperative; The Garin Co.; United Brands Co. of New York City through its subsidiary, Inter Harvest, Inc. of Salinas; and West Coast Farms, Watsonville, Calif.

Those named in the complaint were given 30 days to respond. The FTC proposed to resolve the issue through an order that would prohibit those involved from entering into any price fixing in the future.

Judge Dismisses Shooting Charge

A Marin Municipal Court judge has dismissed a charge of a...ault with a deadly weapon against a Sausalito man after ruling he was acting in self defense.

Released Tuesday following a preliminary hearing was Joey Michno, 28, also known as Joey Edward Covington.

Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled that Michno's brother, Lewis, 33, and Stephen Frankel, 30, both of Fairfax, provoked the younger Michno into shooting them on May 15.

Sausalito police reported Joey Michno shot his brother and Frankel through a peephole in his front door as the two approached his house following an argument in a restaurant.

McCord Claims Nixon 'Nodded' To Watergate

BOSTON (UPI) — Convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord said yesterday he believes President Nixon set in motion the Watergate break-in "by a nod of his head."

The former FBI and CIA agent, speaking at a news conference, also said that he believes the President will be impeached.

Asked about the President's alleged involvement in the Watergate scandal, McCord said, "I believe he both set it in motion —which is authorization —and he set it in motion by a nod of his head, by approval of it, and that is authorization to the men who worked under him.

He said the reason he participated was because he believed President Nixon and Mitchell approved of the breakin.

French Connection Is Finally Cracked

PARIS (UPI) — Narcotics agents waited patiently for two years, carefully building a case against the shadowy one-legged man who allegedly helped build the underground road known as the French Connection.

The route stretched from the heroin mills of Marseille to the inner cities of America, providing tons of illegal narcotics to addicts along the east coast of the United States. It was the basis for a popular novel and movie, both called the "French Connection."

Agents said today the notorious French Connection gang has been crushed. Every major figure is either dead or in jail.

The end finally came Tuesday with the arrest of a dark-haired Frenchman named Henri de Barros.

Barros lost a leg in an automobile accident in 1972. Since then, police said he had used assumed names, done a lot of traveling and finally settled down to a quiet life with a girl friend in a villa in Dijon in east central France.

Agents said they kept track of Barros, working to make a tight case against him. They moved in Tuesday and took him without a fight.

"This arrest Tuesday marks the end of the era of French traffickers," Commissaire Aime Blanc said.

Police said the Barros was allegedly linked to heroin seizures of 320 pounds in Miami, 40 pounds in Buenos Aires and with at least six successful smuggling attempts during the early 1970s.

The French Connection, which supplied tons of heroin to the United States in the 1968 to 1972 period, was "chopped up and attacked from all sides," said Paul Knight, head of the U.S. drug enforcement drive in Europe and Africa.

The connection was in Marseille, where laboratories refined morphine base from Turkey into the white heroin powder bound for the U.S. east coast via Latin America or Canada.

For years few Frenchmen acknowledged that big-time drug bosses operated in their country. But then U.S.-French cooperation turned the situation around.

During 1972, agents closed six heroin laboratories in the Marseille area and from 1970 to 1971 drug arrests in France jumped from 57 to 2,592.

The biggest alleged dealer, Auguste Ricord, was arrested in South America and later sentenced on Jan. 29, 1973 in New York City to 20 years in prison.

French agents said that his drug rings fell to Andre Condemine. Condemine's body was found in a trunk floating in Paris' Seine River last July. He had been shot twice in the head.

French police say their main target now is brown heroin or "brown sugar" that is smuggled into France from Asia.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Dirty Man' Is A Bad Evening

By GERALD GENESE

SAN FRANCISCO — "The Mind With the Dirty Man," a play by Jules Tasca now at the On Broadway Theater, is mildly amusing. So is having your feet tickled.

While I was awake during the play no one bumped into anyone else, fell off the stage, ripped his pants, missed a cue, or flubbed a line. The audience laughed quite a bit, but why is beyond me.

"The Mind with the Dirty Man," seems to be either an extended night club routine or a pilot for a TV situation comedy being tried out on stage. The former because it is a series of one-liners (Tasca wrote for Phyllis Diller), and the lattter because it seems to be a risque version of the now defunct, "Paul Lynde Show."

"THE MIND WITH THE DIRTY MAN" — A comedy in three acts by Jules Tasca. Directed by Edward Parone. Set and lighting by Ronald Krempetz. Costumes designed by William Barbe. The cast: Dianne Dracman, Adele Proom; Father Jerome, Milt Commons; Lucrecia Conwell, Jan Stratton; Wayne Stone, Richard Erdman; Alma Stone, Johana De Winter; Clayton Stone, J. Steven White, and Divina, Merry Rockwell.

I can hear the playwright and director saying, "Doesn't this guy like humor? Doesn't he want to laugh?" Yes I do, but not at contrived comedy and situations, which is all "The Mind With the Dirty Man" is. I want to laugh at something real, honest and believable.

"The Mind With the Dirty Man," takes place in Buckram, in the mythical kingdom of Mid-America Cornpone. Daddy Stone (Richard Erdman) is a businessman and respected member of the community. One of his civic duties is as a member of the local film censoring board. His post-menopausal wife (Johana De Winter) is having impure thoughts about having an affair.

The local bluenoses are up in arms about the local movie theater being sold to someone for the purpose of showing porno films.

Into this situation enters son, Clayton Stone (J. Steven White), riding his 650cc chopper, with a degree in cinematography from the University of Nepal, where during vacations, he contemplated the lint in his navel and chanted the corporate mantra "IBM. . . IBM," while standing on his head on Mount Everest with Tenzing Norkay. Guess who's porno film is being shown at the local theater? Right. Go ahead two spaces and write the rest of the play yourself.

The production itself is professional and runs smoothly, but so does a Ford assembly line. The actors perform competently in spite of the script. Erdman plays his character as a soon-to-be liberated Dagwood Bumstead, with Miss De Winter doing a dark-haired Blondie.

The supporting cast, Jan Stratton (who has some good moments), Adele Proom and Milt Commons do a creditable job as the other members of the film censoring board.

Merry Rockwell, as Divina, star of Clayton's porno film, seems to be miscast. She is a good actress, but is too wholesome-looking to be the star of a blue movie. She does not have the rough edges one would expect of a porno-film queen.

A bad play makes me think about the function of a reviewer and/or critic. I feel like Paul Revere. Instead of shouting, "The British are coming! The British are coming!" I say, "A bad play is here! A bad play is here!" Close your shutters and watch, "Kojak," or play Monopoly with your kids or stay home and bake some bread or have someone tickle your feet.

The contest was held in 1968.

Bold Domestic Diplomacy Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says the time has come for bold domestic diplomacy because of the impasse on national issues caused by Watergate.

Ford told the 54th annual national convention of the U.S. Jaycees in San Diego yesterday that there needs to be new initiative and new energies on the domestic impasse which, he said, "has this nation spinning its wheels.

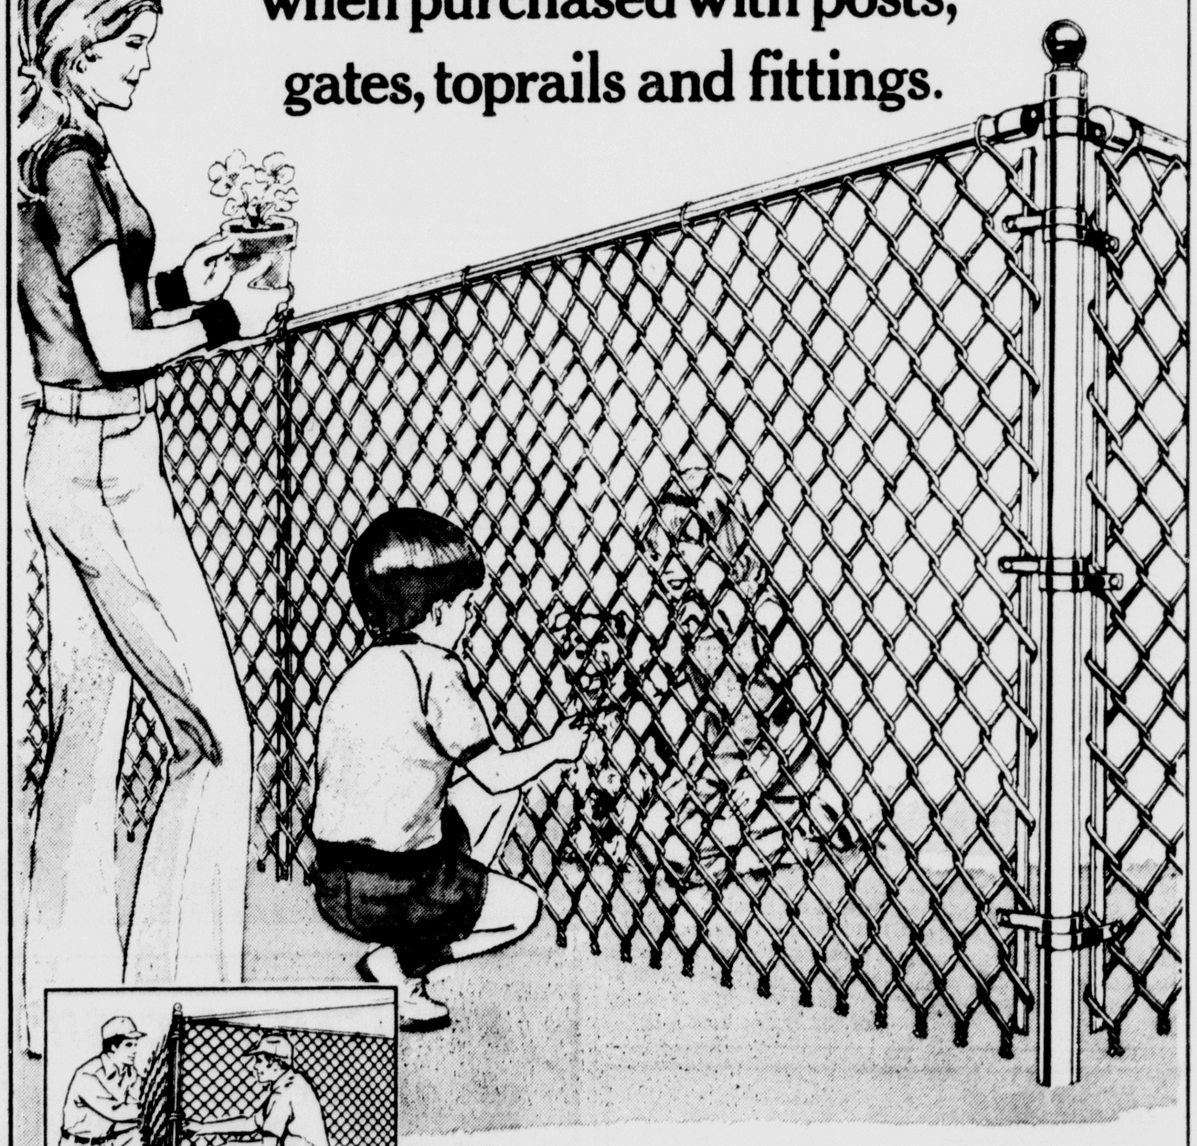

"There is too much deadlock here at home — too much acrimony and animosity, frustration and faint heartedness," he said.

Four Trade Unions Face Counts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Labor Relations Board yesterday decided to authorize charges against four construction trade unions in connection with labor violence, but dropped conspiracy charges against 13 others.

Both contractors and union officials claimed the decision as a victory.

"This is a real breakthrough, and we're pleased," said Mike Callas, a Hagerstown, Md., contractor and president of Associated Builders and Contractors.

"We are pleased that our position has been vindicated," said Robert Georgine, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades department. "One of the most preposterous charges in the history of the National Labor Relations Act has been laid to rest."

The NLRB's general counsel decided yesterday to authorize charges against four of the 17 international construction trades unions named in extensive complaints filed by the contractors May 16, 1973. The contractors had said the unions' internationals bodies, along with the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department and regional, state, local union councils and local unions, were involved in a conspiracy to use violence to coerce workers to join unions.

After 13 months of investigation and more than 4,000 pages of documents introduced by the contractors, the NLRB counsel authorized charges of using violence to coerce workers to join against the iron workers, roofers, laborers and carpenters international union and three separate locals.

Charges against 13 other internationals and the Building Trades Department of the AFL-CIO were dismissed. The ABC had said these unions had conspired to conduct unfair labor practices, but the NLRB general counsel rejected the conspiracy theories.

Georgine said he was glad the government "now has agreed with our contention that there is no basis for the wild conspiracy charges hurled by the ABC over a year ago."

Callas said that since the suit was brought "we've seen a definite trend of diminishing activity" in construction site violence.

4,000 GM Assembly Plant Workers Stage A Walk Out

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. was hit today by its second car assembly plant strike this week when 4,000 workers walked out of the Norwood, Ohio, plant in a dispute over a new local contract.

GM's two major competitors, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., also faced labor difficulties with the United Auto Workers union.

Nearly 30,000 Ford workers at 12 assembly plants remained on layoffs today, awaiting critical parts from the Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant. A nine-day strike by 4,000 employes ended there Thursday night but not until it had cost Ford the production of 31,000 cars and 12,500 trucks.

Ford officials said the Chicago assembly and the Kansas City truck plants would reopen Monday and 10 other facilities in the United States and Canada during the week when parts became available.

Some 6,400 members of UAW Local 140 awaited authorization from the union's leadership to strike Chrysler's Dodge truck plant in Warren, Mich. The plant was shut for three days last week in an illegal walkout leading to dismissal of 79 workers.

At Norwood, where a 1972 dispute lasted a record 174 days, workers left their jobs at 10 a.m. after negotiations failed to produce a new local agreement.

The plant, which manufactures 986 Chevrolet Camaros and Pontiac Firebirds a day, is among 22 of 146 bargaining units which have not settled on local contracts to supplement the national agreement between the UAW and GM.

Some 3,100 workers at the Kansas City, Mo., assembly plant have been on strike since Tuesday night, their third strike in two months. The others lasted less than a week at the plant that builds 800 Buick Apollos and Chevrolet Novas a day.

Congress Approves Reprieve On Mailing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Final congressional approval has been given a bill to extend until 1980 a deadline requiring newspapers and magazines to pay first-class postage rates.

The bill, which President Nixon is expected to sign, also would extend to 1988 the deadline for nonprofit organizations, such as libraries and charitable groups, to delay paying the full mailing rate.

Houst Rejects Shift In Election Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Administration Committee voted, 19 to 5, yesterday to retain congressional supervision of federal election laws.

The committee rejected a proposal to give the President power to appoint an independent commission. The Senate has approved similar legislation.

Invasion Of Privacy Attacked By Martha

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, citing personal experiences, said today governmental invasion of individual privacy is a greater threat to society than a nuclear holocaust.

"How can we put an end to this?" Mrs. Mitchell asked on a television talk "...Do you believe that any laws that are passed —are they going to control this thing?"

"Lack of privacy," she said, "is the greatest threat to our society, not the atom bomb."

Mrs. Mitchell, wife of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, made the remarks during her final appearance as cohostess of WCBS-TV's "Pat Collins Show."

Speaking of her charge that federal agents once beat and drugged her in California, she asked, "What right does a doctor have who doesn't even know you to walk into your room and give you a shot that lasts for eight hours?"

During the months when the Watergate scandal was unraveling and her husband was becoming involved in law suits and criminal indictments, Mrs. Mitchell went on, she used to tell the press: "Please watch me. If I'm not around, look for me."

Well, she added, she had said it in a joking way but there was a bit of real fear there too.

Mrs. Mitchell reflected on the bizarre set of circumstances that she said had changed her life so drastically.

When her husband quit the administration at her insistence, Mrs. Mitchell said, "I expected to come to New York and be the proverbial housewife. But it certainly turned out extremely the opposite way."

On yesterday's show Mrs. Mitchell questioned Gloria Steinem about how much personal liberation the feminist leader had achieved.

"Do you think you're totally liberated?" Mrs. Mitchell asked.

"Absolutely not," Ms. Steinem answered. "I don't because I'm the product of this society...confidence is the real problem, I really lacked confidence."

On Monday, Mrs. Mitchell said she believed that H.R. Haldeman, Nixon's former chief of staff, briefed top administration aides in California on the Watergate breakin the same day it occurred.

On Tuesday, she revealed that at Camp David one weekend, "she curled up on the President's bed and fell asleep ...It sounds bad, but it wasn't."

On Wednesday, she got Washington Post reporter Bob Woodward, who helped break the Watergate case, to admit he voted for Nixon in 1968.

Poultry Producers Admit Killing Chicks.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for chicken producers says it is "common knowledge" in the industry that millions of baby chicks have been destroyed recently in an effort to reduce supplies and raise prices.

George Watts, president of the National Broiler Council, told the House Agriculture Committee yesterday the action was an outgrowth of the same kind of fear of losses that beef and pork producers say they face because of oversupplies.

Eight AWOL Sailors Demand Ship Probe, Captain's Ouster

TOKYO (UPI) — Eight American sailors, who refused to return to the aircraft carrier USS Midway, have demanded a congressional investigation of conditions on the ship and replacement of the captain.

In a press conference yesterday for Japanese newsmen, the AWOL sailors complained of long hours, torture in the brig, dangerous working conditions and racial discrimination.

Accounts of the news conference were carried by Tokyo's newspapers. The sailors did not invite representatives of the American news media to the conference.

The sailors, six of them teenagers, said they would return to duty when the Midway returned to Yokosuka Naval Base southwest of Tokyo June 27.

But they said they will stage a similar protest unless the carrier's commander, Richard J. Schulte, is replaced and a congressional investigation launched.

Fifty-two sailors failed to return to the carrier when the ship manned by a crew of 4,500 left Yokosuka for an undisclosed destination last week.

Japanese newspapers said the AWOL sailors protested alleged racial discrimination and long working hours, but a U.S. Navy spokesman said the Navy has not received a complaint from the men.

The spokesman said 20 of the sailors have since returned to the base and the remaining 32 were listed as missing.

The Asahi newspaper quoted one of the sailors as saying the crew was forced to do "dirty, dangerous work and racial discrimination was getting worse."

Another sailor said he was subjected to sadistic torture while in the brig, while a third said he was "sick of war games." One of the sailors protested "18-hour-duty starting at 7 a.m."

The Yomiuri newspaper said the sailors described their action as a strike and not a desertion.

Quentin Inmate Tells Of Guard Dispute, Lock-Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Quentin Prison inmate has told a federal judge he was locked in the prison's maximum security Adjustment Center after he threw a bucket of hot water over a guard.

Willie Tate, 29, testified yesterday he did so only after the guard continued to make degrading sexual remarks about him and other black prisoners.

Tate is the third of six prisoners to testify in a civil rights suit, contending that long confinement in the adjustment center is cruel and unusual punishment.

Tate identified the guard as K.E. Thomas, whom he called "Thomas the Sadist." Thomas, who still works at San Quentin, was not available for comment.

"The first time he supervised the showers he made comments to all the brothers," said Tate, who is serving a sentence for assault. Tate said he complained to Thomas' superiors, but the guard persisted in his remarks.

Finally, on July 27, 1970, Tate said he filled a bucket with hot water and dumped it over the guard. Tate was locked up in the adjustment Center.

Nurses, Hospitals Discuss Care Of Crisis Patients

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A growing crisis in medical care resulting from a 15-day strike of registered nurses brought the two sides together today in an attempt to set guidelines that would keep nurses at the bedside of critically ill patients.

The striking nurses abandoned some intensive care units earlier this week, contending the hospitals were taking advantage of them by shifting supervisory personnel to non-critical patients.

A spokesman for the California Nurses Association said today's meeting to iron out the emergency staffing problem may also be a prelude to resumed bargaining on a new contract for the 4,400 registered nurses in 41 major hospitals in the strike that began June 7.

Two large San Francisco hospitals not involved in the strike were filled to near-capacity and many suburban hospitals were admitting patients who normally would be treated in city hospitals.

The nurses association contends the struck hospitals are keeping half their beds filled by admitting patients who do not need immediate hospitalization. In order to increase their strike pressure they cut down the number of nurses allowed to handle intensive care units, a move which the hospitals said threatened critically ill patients.

A meeting yesterday resulted in no progress towards settlement.

The striking nurses today conducted a 7 ½-mile march through San Francisco with stops at the hospitals to rally

Pacific Stereo's 50th Store Opens Next Friday

The Newest Stuff from Kenwood and Quadraflex

What better way to help celebrate a new store than to offer some of the very latest equipment at really nice savings? Kenwood's KR-2400 AM/FM stereo receiver and the Quadraflex RS-4 speaker systems are brand new products, and together with the Garrard 40B record player they make up a system that's just about unbeatable at $349. The 2400 has a tuner section that'll give you a new appreciation of radio, enough controls to please even the most fanatical knob-twister, and a very clean-sounding amplifier. There's plenty of power for the efficient Quadraflex RS-4's, and you'll hear good strong low notes from the 10" bass speakers. The 40B isn't a new model; it's simply one of the best record player values around (and a very popular machine as well). $18.48 per month 24 payments $349

PRICE INCLUDES PACIFIC STEREO'S WRITTEN FIVE-YEAR SERVICE AGREEMENT.
If you purchased these components separately, you would pay $439.80.

First-Time Savings on Kenwood 4-Channel Receivers

KR-5340, orig. $299.50
$229 $12.12 per month 24 payments

When people ask about four-channel receivers, we often recommend one of these Kenwood units. We like their sound (it's really clean), and we also like their control flexibility. They'll decode any matrix record, and you can easily connect a CD-4 demodulator. They're great two-channel stereo receivers too; all three have bridging circuits that give them even more power in stereo than in the four-channel mode. This week, for the first time, we're offering these units at greatly reduced prices; you've never had a better chance to get a good start in four-channel sound. Stop in now and hear how good it can be.

Yacht Club Plans Festive Day To Mark Opening Of Lagoon Lock

The Bel-Marin Keys Yacht Club will celebrate the opening of its lagoon lock in conjunction with its annual sail-a-bration July 4.

The festivities, which begin at 11 a.m., will include a boat parade, sailboat races and demonstrations of water skiing.

Susan Ricci, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony L. Ricci of 88 Montego Key, has been selected by club members to reign as queen of the event.

Wanda B. Willman, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Willman of 76 Montego Key, and Charisse Lindsay, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lindsay of 137 Caribe Isle, will be attendants.

The theme of the celebration is "Lock and Bagels," according to Commodore Joe Thomas.

Boats will sail from the yacht club to the lock where the opening ceremonies will be held at 11:30 a.m. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste and San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini will speak.

From noon to 1 p.m. there will be a parade of boats across the lagoon, and then bagels and cheese will be served at the yacht club. Water skiing demonstrations and sailboat races will follow.

There also will be water ski demonstrations, sail boat races and the crowning of the queen at the club.

Brown, Other Ranking Democrats Pledge Unity

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. and three other top Democrats yesterday called for unity in the Democratic Party during the 1974 election campaign.

Brown, a candidate for governor, told a joint news conference that all Democratic lawmakers "are coming behind this campaign for governor" and said the main unifying issue is "the absolute bankruptcy in the executive branch now."

Appearing with Brown were Sen. President Pro Tem James R. Mills of San Diego, Assembly Speaker-designate Leo T. McCarthy and Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco, an unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate.

Moscone said, "I hope this meeting is more than symbolic because we have a lot of fence-mending to do."

McCarthy said he thought Brown's vigorous support of Proposition 9, the political reform initiative, "will have no lasting reaction" among legislators. "I don't think Assembly Democrats took it (Proposition 9) personally," the San Francisco Democrat said.

Moscone said he thought the Proposition 9 campaign against lobbyists' influence on lawmakers was "a realistic one" because the public had failed to trust legislators and said Brown's image is that he "cannot be bought, sold or even rented for a short time."

Asked if he thought legislators were justified in feeling Brown used them as whipping boys in the Proposition 9 campaign, Brown replied: "No. But I'm going to do everything I can where it does exist to overcome it."

JOY OF SWINDLING

The Yellow Kid Turns 99 — Remembers The Game

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joseph (The Yellow Kid) Weil, despite his upcoming 99th birthday Sunday, has no doubts that he is still able to pull off the kind of act for which he was notorious around the world — swindling.

Weil is reputed to have made and lost $8 million in his assorted con games, living by the philosophy that businessmen, bankers and lawyers make the best targets for a man of his talents.

Confined now to a wheelchair and living in a convalescent home here, he recalled his 50 years of confidence games.

"It was so fascinating that I didn't have time to regret my activities. There was so much happiness and joy in swindling."

Weil said his cons were usually confined to "men of means" because of their reputations.

"If a man of means gets swindled," Weil said, "He's not going to want any publicity, so he is going to keep it to himself. They don't care how they make the money as long as they don't have to kill."

But Weil said there were times when his victims did report the swindle, forcing him and his associates to flee the country for a short time, usually to play the con game at racetracks in England, France and Germany. He was caught three times and spent a total of six years in prison for his activities.

JOSEPH (YELLOW KID) WEIL
'So fascinating'

The Yellow Kid said he only played his game on men who had larceny in their hearts. He said he stayed away from politicians because "they didn't have anything, and if they did, they usually had connections with the police."

Weil's favorite swindle involved the racetrack. Weil and his associates would talk a businessman into coming out to the racetrack to watch Weil's horse exercise.

Weil said they would not feed the horse when the victim was there because the horse ran better on an empty stomach.

"I would act as the go-between after we had convinced him to bet a large amount on the race. When the race day came, we would feed that horse so that it lost by just a little bit. We kept the money and the businessman would think he had lost the race. He never knew he had been swindled."

Weil, who got his name from the yellow suits he used to wear, had an assortment of swindles, including phony stock deals and talking dogs. He admitted that he tried to go straight during his career, "but it was impossible."

Weil even had his wife conned for many years. She thought he was a successful stockbroker, until he was arrested in the 1940s.

"If I remember right, she was quite disturbed mentally to learn what line of work I was really in," Weil said.

It may be good advice for those who attend his birthday party Sunday to keep their wits about them.

"You never can lose at swindling," The Yellow Kid said, "It's simplicity, I can pull one off now, if I want to."

Little Asks Change In Trial's Location

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Russell Little, one of the two men charged with the assasination of Oakland school superintendent Marcus Foster, yesterday asked an appeals court to move his murder trial out of Alameda County.

Little and codefendant Joseph Ramiro had previously asked the state Court of Appeal to move their assault trial out of Contra Costa County. Both requests were turned down by superior courts.

Little filed his appeal for a writ of mandate and a stay with the appellate court today and Remiro was expected to file a similar petition next week.

Little and Remiro are charged with the murder of Foster on Nov. 6, 1973. Their petition for a change of venue out of Alameda County was turned down by Judge William J. McGuiness on June 15.

Little's petition said there was a reasonable likelihood that a fair trial could not be had in Alameda County because of pretrial publicity.

It also attacked a prosectuion opinion poll on the subject, calling it a "home-brewed" poll. The prosecution had submitted a poll indicating that a fair and impartial trial could be held in Alameda County.

VALUE BUILDUP — Attorney James W. Lee and his wife, Dorothy, of Houston, Tex., refused to sell this house several years ago when a big business developer bought up surrounding property for a new commercial center. Finally they sold and realized more than $500,000 profit.

Holdout Homeowner Gets Rich

HOUSTON (UPI) — James W. Lee and his wife, Dorothy, bought their brown brick home trimmed with blue years ago for $20,500.

The wood shingled roof has turned gray under the summer sun and the winter rain, but the one-story home is neat and nestled on a tree-shaded lot a couple of blocks from the towering buildings of Greenway Plaza, a $1 billion business center project.

The Lee home was the final block in expansion of the plaza.

Lee's 350 neighbors sold their homes in 1969 and 1970 to Century Development Corp., which handled land acquisitions for the project, for an average of $26,250.

Lee was first approached by the developers four years ago. But he held out against the $3 a square-foot he was offered by Century which bought up a total of 127 acres in three phases.

"I just sort of sat silent while everybody sold out," Lee, 55, an attorney, said yesterday.

This week, the Lees sold their property to the plaza developers for $60 a square foot — $525,000. That's a profit of $504,500.

"It's just sort of hard to believe, isn't it?" he said. "I'm just tickled to death to have a measure of independence so that I could hold out."

Century Chairman Kenneth L. Schnitzer decided to pay Lee's price after they sat down to lunch in a posh Houston club. Schnitzer refused comment on the deal.

Lee and his wife, who have a grown daughter, will have to move out by Sept. 1, but until then they will have to rent their home back from Century for $200 a month.

The neighbors who agreed to much lower terms years ago were allowed to stay in their homes rent-free until this year.

"We have no special plans," Lee said. "We haven't decided exactly when or where to move. We just plan to enjoy ourselves."

Sentencing Date In Union Slaying

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Albert Pass, former United Mine Workers executive board member, will be sentenced July 1 on a three-count murder conviction in the 1969 Yablonski slayings.

Pass, of Middlesboro, Ky., faces a maximum penalty of three consecutive life sentences for the Dec. 31, 1969, murders of union insurgent Joseph A. (Jock) Yablonski, his wife and daughter at their home in Clarksville, Pa.

Erie County Judge Edward Carney set a sentencing date yesterday, two days after a three-judge panel turned down Pass' request for a new trial. Defense attorney Harold Gondelman has asked the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to review the decision.

Assistant Secretary Of State Confirmed

Enders, 43, has served in several overseas diplomatic posts. He is a native of Hartford, Conn.

Ross Valley Board Gets Annual Budget

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board has received a proposed 1974-75 budget of $3,109,363, a total which will require a tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation, unchanged from this year.

The budget is up from this year's $2,823,489 spending plan, but there was a 10.4 per cent increase in assessed valuation within the district, according to Ned J. Ongaro, district manager.

Most of the money will go into the district's reserve for state-mandated sewer improvements, Ongaro said.

A sum of $1,025,000 has been set aside for sewer trunkline replacement projects presently underway in Ross and San Anselmo.

The district's operating budget for 1974-75 is proposed at $424,169,up from the current year's budget of $384,643. It includes $133,136 for the treatment plant, $102,109 for maintenance, $97,700 for administration and $91,224 for infiltration work.

Capital improvements in the budget are Nokomis and Mariposa avenues' sewer line replacement in San Anselmo, $35,000; sewer line replacement from Berry Lane to Ross General Hospital, $55,000; a chlorine contact basin, $50,000; and modernization of the Bon Air pump station, $125,000. A total of $43,000 is budget for purchase of a new van, car, pump for treatment plant, flow meter, pump and tank for rodder, hydroflusher, two mobile radios and a compressor.

Future projects noted in the budget are trunkline replacement, $1,235,000; infiltration analysis, $100,000; enlargement of the San Quentin Peninsula treatment plant, $600,000, and land purchases, $250,000.

Ongaro said district trustees will review the budget at their regular meeting July 1 at 8 p.m. in the district office.

RATNA SUKARNO
Victory over book

Widow Of Sukarno Wins Case

LONDON (UPI) — The socialite widow of President Sukarno of Indonesia has made legal history in Britain, winning an apology in court from the publishers of a book that alleged her husband had sexual relations with a notorious callgirl.

In addition, publishers Blond and Briggs agreed to grind into pulp all existing copies of the book and delete references to Sukarno from later editions.

Legal experts said it was the first time in a British court anyone not directly implicated in a libelous work had successfully sued over defamatory statements made about a dead relative.

The book that made the charge was "I, Norma Levy," written by the central figure in a political sex-scandal that rocked the Conservative Party government last year.

The government sex-for-sale scandal resulted in the resignation of Lord Lambton, a junior minister, amid unsubstantiated charges of possible defense and security leaks.

Japanese-born Mrs. Dewi Sukarno, a jet-setter who lives in Paris, arrived in the High Court yesterday dressed for the Ascot races in a red-and-white matching outfit and a wide-brimmed hat.

While in London, she danced and dined at famous nightclubs with a party that included prominent socialites Juan March of Spain, steel magnate Baron Heini Von Thyssen and television personality David Frost.

In the book, Irish-born Mrs. Levy told how she made love to Sukarno, who led his country to independence and ruled as its president until he was ousted in 1967.

The episode allegedly took place while Sukarno was guest of the British government.

"In fact, President Sukarno never came to London on such a visit, never came to England in his life and never met Mrs. Levy," Robert Alexander, Mrs. Sukarno's counsel, told the court.

The publishers admitted through their counsel the allegation was false and they apologized. Mrs. Levy did not appear in court.

Leaving for Ascot, and later Monte Carlo to join the celebrations of Prince Rainier's 25th anniversary on the Monaco throne, Mrs. Sukarno, 33, told newsmen she did not ask for money for the libel.

She said she sued for the memory of Sukarno, unable to defend himself, and for the sake of their 7-year-old daughter, Artika Sari Sukarno.

Shipbuilders Get Pay Hike Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A tentative agreement has been reached on new three-year pay contract for 15,000 shipyard workers on the Pacific Coast.

The proposal includes pay raises of $1.70 an hour over three years and an increase in fringe benefits totaling 55 cents an hour, said Thomas Rotell, president of the AFL-CIO Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council. The contract also includes a cost-of-living clause.

The contract would apply to 11 international unions in California, Oregon and Washington, Rotell said yesterday. Ratification votes will be taken during the next two weeks.

Seat For Grenada In UN Is Backed

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Security Council unanimously recommended the Caribbean island of Grenada for admission to the United Nations next fall.

By a 15-0 vote, the council yesterday sent Grenada's application to the General Assembly, which was expected to elect it as the 137th UN member at its September session.

International Battle On Oceans

CARACAS (UPI) — The United States, the Soviet Union and other big sea powers, heavily outnumbered by a coalition of small nations, today renewed a diplomatic battle to avoid defeat at a key international conference on the oceans.

With 150 countries meeting at the 3rd U.N Conference on the Law of the Sea, the combined strength of developing and small nations held a crucial majority over the big powers.

The major maritime nations sought to push through a requirement for a two-thirds majority instead of a simple majority for votes on new laws governing the world's seas.

U.S. Special Ambassador John R. Stevenson warned yesterday that achieving consensus was crucial to the success of the delegates' efforts to draft international treaties on the vast wealth of the oceans.

He said that a mere majority was not sufficient since any treaty was subject to individual ratification and an unsatisfied nation could choose not to ratify, making the treaty meaningless.

Preliminary meetings in Geneva and at the United Nations in New York failed to resolve procedural problems, forcing the Caracas meeting to take the first few days of its summer-long conference to settle the issue.

The 10-week Caracas conference began yesterday with some 3,000 delegates and experts plus hundreds of observers meeting to map new laws for the ocean to replace the sea traditions handed down from the 17th Century.

The meeting is the third attempt since 1958 to draft an enduring body of sea laws, but political observers said the meeting would probably clear the way for new agreements rather than actually write concrete legislation.

Since 1945, individual states have begun extending their control over adjacent seas from the traditional three miles to 200 miles and beyond, to guarantee benefits from resources.

MR. AND MRS. Harry Wall of San Rafael were married June 24, 1924. The former Norma Plow is a native of Petaluma, who met Wall, a San Rafael native, on a hike on San Rafael Hill. The couple will celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary on a trip to South Lake Tahoe.

SPOOF BY LODGE

Shotgun Rite Opens Observance Of Walls' 50th Anniversary

The celebrating began June 6 for Harry and Norma Wall, who will have their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday.

Members of Mrs. Wall's Golden Star Rebekah Lodge staged a mock wedding for the couple — shotgun and all. Carrying the musket was best man Elmer Kaysen, and Mrs. James L. Dunn, the matron of honor, carried a bouquet of weeds and a rolling pin. The ringbearer, William Edmundson, carried the rings, two hose clamps, on an enormous pillow, and Mrs. Clifford Winegarden was the flower girl. Mrs. Robert Wright staged the wedding, which was a complete surprise to the Walls.

Another celebration will be a trip to South Lake Tahoe the Walls will make with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wall of San Rafael. The trip is the junior Walls' gift to his parents.

"And I won a trip to San Francisco," Harry Wall said. "Imagine, San Francisco. Other people win trips to Hawaii. For 51 years I've been buying tickets at the church. . ."

A native of San Rafael, Wall was born and reared in what was considered country with horses, cows and chickens. The family home, no longer standing, was on C Street between Fourth and Fifth. His wife, the former Norma Plow, was born on a ranch in Petaluma. Her family came to San Rafael in 1921, where her father served as the first manager of Aldersly Danish Home. She stayed in Petaluma to finish high school, coming to San Rafael on weekends.

It was on one of those weekend visits that she met Wall. She and her friends were hiking on San Rafael Hill when they encountered a group of boys, including Wall. The couple was married a few years later at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

Wall was in the insurance business for 51 years, retiring in 1970. He began as an entry clerk, and was an underwriter for Cravens Dargan Insurance Co. when he retired.

One of Wall's fondest memories of San Rafael was the day the paving of Fourth Street was finished.

"We had a big picnic, then rode scootmobiles down the street," he said.

The Walls have lived in their present home on Belle Avenue in San Rafael for 32 years.

Mrs. Wall has been a member of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission since it was formed in 1958 and served as the first chairman. She is active in many organizations, including California Rebekah Assembly, serving a fourth term as president; charter member of Sequoia Court Order of Amaranth; past Pocahontas (president), Genessee Council, Degree of Pocahontas; past director of the Marin County Heart Association; past grand president of Danish Ladies' Lodge; life member of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers; board member of Aldersly; and past president of Coleman School, San Rafael Grammar School, and San Rafael High School Parent-Teacher associations.

The Walls have three grandchildren, Kris, 12, Kathleen, 9, and Kirk, 6.

Novices Can Learn To Display Fair Flowers

Novices, who wish to enter the Marin County Fair flower arrangement competition this year, may enroll in a free flower arranging class given by Sara Tuckey of Kentfield prior to the fair Aug. 29 to Sept. 2.

Weekly classes will be held for 20 students July 11 through Aug. 15. Deadline for flower entries in the fair is Aug. 22.

Mrs. Tuckey is president of the Bay Area Arrangers Guild, founder of the Decorations Guild of the Marin Art and Garden Center, president of the Garden Society of Marin and past president of the Marin Orchid Society. She holds a master's degree in amateur flower show judging for the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Tuckey said that the class is for beginners as well as the advanced students who have never entered an arrangement in a county fair. The class will cover fundamentals and use of more intricate materials.

Persons may enroll in the class through the Marin County Fair office at the Marin County Civic Center in San Rafael.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

An Old Problem: Postman Will Not Deliver Because Of Dog

DEAR HELEN:

Doesn't the U.S. mail creed go something like, "Neither rain, nor hail, nor dark of night shall stay this steadfast courier from his appointed rounds"?

Well, we have a postman who will not deliver our mail when we chain our dog up on the front lawn, even though our dog is very friendly, wouldn't bite anyone, even if the chain didn't keep him "grounded."

Yet we get letters with the penciled notation, "dog out" and the date. Then they're delivered later. When I have a letter to be mailed, this means it isn't picked up on that day either —and I don't have a car for quick hops to the post office, after we get home from work.

I've tried contacting the postmaster, to no avail. He doesn't answer my calls.

The only good that can come of this is fewer bills when I leave the dog on our lawn. Any suggestions? — DELIVERANCE

DEAR DELIVERANCE:

Why not try writing the postmaster — who might respond better to letters than telephone calls. (Seems logical, doesn't it?)

But first, have a talk with your postman. Maybe he doesn't know your dog is friendly. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 28, divorced and miserable. I've been living with a younger man for the past four years. We've discussed marriage, but he must get a divorce first. He's been separated from his wife for five years.

He went back to his home town to start proceedings — but now I hear he's living with his wife. Twice I've sent him money (at his request) so that he could come back here, but he hasn't shown. He now owes me $355. He keeps saying I just don't understand — it takes time persuading his wife about the divorce, and the only reason he's there is because he wants to be with his son.

Helen, it's been five months. I'm miserably confused, terribly in love, and I've turned, unfortunately, to alcohol and lots of it. Don't say go out with other men — no one else appeals to me.

Should I just keep — WAITING

DEAR WAITING:

No.

A.A. is filled with people who kept vigil with a bottle.

Get busy with your work, hobbies, clubs, friends. And date other men even though they don't appeal to you just now. You'll be surprised how fast love dies if you stop nursing it with hope . . . or self-pity. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband wanted me to get a job. We have a small farm, and I do all the chores, but I told him I'd work out if he'd come home and help me run the farm.

It ended up with me working eight hours, then working another full shift at home. He never lifted a hand even with the children. Just sat at his favorite bar and griped on weekends when I asked for help, which I never got, so I quit asking. Finally I gave up my job, as I was very tired.

Now he's calling me lazy. I'm not one to fight back. I'm the quiet type who was raised to think a man is the boss. What should I do? —FARM WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

Fight back.

Sometimes it takes a big blow-up by a quiet wife to show a man he could "boss" himself right out of her life. —H.

In attendance at both the wedding ceremony and the reception at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building were approximately 300 members of the church's congregation. The entire congregation was invited to witness the vows and attend the reception.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Faulkenberry of Petaluma, and Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin of Seattle.

The bride's sister, Karen Faulkenberry of Petaluma, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Leslie Bello of Petaluma, Paula Cole of Sebastopol, Helen Hay of Ethiopia and Ruth Tedsland of Mexico City.

The bridegroom's brother, Steve McLaughlin of Seattle, was best man, and ushers at the afternoon wedding were the bridegroom's brother Ken McLaughlin of Seattle, Jim Ross of Manhattan Beach, Miles Green of Redondo Beach and Ted Green of Whittier.

Michael was graduated from West Seattle High School and attends Biola College. He is the grandson of Lydia McLaughlin of Auburn, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jay of Seattle.

Visitors Exchange Given A New Look

Wendy Doughty of San Anselmo has picked up the pieces of the International Visitors Exchange following the death last summer of her employer Erica Hansell.

The exchange of visitors from France will continue this summer but with a new twist, instigated by Mrs. Doughty. At her suggestion the exchange has been opened to business and professional persons as well as students.

Mrs. Doughty is seeking families to host the tourists, who will stay for approximately four weeks.

"They are all traveling on the European paying guest plan, whereby the host is paid for room and board," Mrs. Doughty said. "They are looking for families who will welcome them into their homes and show them their American way of life. In return the host family will be exposed to their culture, the fun of a foreign language and quite possibly the start of a long, international friendship."

The travelers who will be arriving in mid July through August include, in addition to students from 15 to 24 years old, a 57-year-old woman teacher; a 36-year-old male doctor from Tahiti, who practices in France; a 34-year-old businessman and his 23-year-old wife, a teacher, and a 21-year-old medical student, who likes tennis and swimming.

she will attempt to match the travelers with families who have similar interests, but if any matches do not work out she and her husband, John, are prepared to take them into their home.

Usually there is an opportunity before the visitor arrives for an exchange of correspondence so the relationship has started when he arrives, Mrs. Doughty said.

ON BEING BLACK

Question Arises On Coach's Iron Rule

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate

"I live in the dorm, eat paper-thin cafeteria meals and am still expected to run on the court like a machine. The coach lives up on the hill in a $100,000 house, eats steaks and drinks martinis. The inequity is just too gross. We (the athletes) work hard. We are responsible for the team's standing. Now, based upon our talents, he's off to another, higher paying job."

The black basketball players were discussing some of the attitudes and problems of being "superstars" or "superpawns" in the arena of college sports.

Some were asking a deadly question — deadly in the sense that the coach basically controls the life of the college athlete and can withdraw the scholarship on which most black athletes depend. Their question? How important are coaches?

Granted, they are necessary, but there is a vast discrepancy between their input, the athletes' input and the respective pay received.

Supposedly, an athletic scholarship finances four years of college in exchange for athletic services rendered. A recent study of athletes' time and labor was translated into dollars and cents. It showed that the average college athlete makes 32 cents an hour. The ballplayers stated that, even with the $15-per-month National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) allowance, they were underpaid and undernourished.

ANOTHER MAJOR concern was the fact that so few black athletes actually graduate from college. After they play their term of eligibility (they now may play varsity ball during their freshman year) and contribute to the name and glory of the institution, few are academically equipped to pursue other careers. A research paper on athletes at one university showed that out of the 47 black athletes attending that university only seven ultimately graduated.

The athletes expressed concern about the young high school graduates who enter (or are lured into) the college arena with very little sound counseling. Many black athletes who do not ultimately play pro ball (and the number of slots in this area is severely limited) and do not graduate can very often be found on the streets of their hometowns.

They talk about glorious college ball days but are unable to do little in the way of supporting families and making sound livings.

The black basketball players agreed that college athletes would have to be more outspoken and make greater efforts at "covering each other's backs."

They also suggested that changes were due on the part of "the dictator" — the NCAA.

FACES — This boldly detailed oil painting by Mendocino artist Helen Paulson depicts ritualistic masks used by Indians of northern British Columbia. It is included in an exhibit of her paintings and photography now at the Marin County Civic Center Library.

Works Capture A Wide Interest

By ADA GARFINKEL

Artist Helen Paulson, a Mendocino Coast resident, is a person of prodigious energy and interests. A graduate of Stanford University, class of '39, she majored in clinical psychology while pursuing her interests in art, choreography, and costume design.

Later she worked as costume designer for the San Francisco Opera Ballet, and also as a clinical psychologist for a junior counseling service.

These earlier interests appear and enforce her visual expressions in many of the works in her extensive show at the Marin County Civic Center Library.

Working in oils, watercolors, inks and color photography in a variety of locales experienced in moves about the country with her engineer husband, Mrs. Paulson displays a deep involvement and compassion for people.

Also, a sympathetic harmony with the beauty of the natural environment. Tidepools, glistening drops of water on sand, a spiky cactus are seen in close-up, below eye level, in softly focused photos.

The most dramatic photos are those of the jazz scene in New Orleans. These candidly intimate shots have a tremendous impact. One is drawn to the perspiring, shirt-sleeved musicians in action and in momentary repose, and one feels oneself a part of the vibrations of the small but enthusiastic audience.

Sometimes the photos serve the artist as subjects for watercolor or oil paintings. Two of the former, "Old Absinthe House on Bourbon Street," and "Purple Flower, Duke Ellington," are almost like psychodramas. In their character insight of life in the bistros, they recall the revealing works of Toulouse-Lautrec.

Unlike the thin washes of color and line of her watercolors, and very different too from the clear, luminous glazes of earlier oil landscapes and seascapes, in the oil paintings of the New Orleans period the crusty, impasto brushwork is emotionally directed.

In "Jazz Watchers," for instance, the packed body-to-body space, the paintbrush-contoured figures and the clear apricot-orange hues sparked by a hint of turquoise, created an aura of brilliant heat and emotional excitement.

Mrs. Paulson's show consists of 58 works. Selective deleting would have resulted in greater impact and a more even quality. Among her best works are "Kuna," "Ebb Tide, II," "Sierra Snow" and "Shuttered Windows."

Viewing hours for this exhibit, which will continue through July, are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Search Ends For Politico's Yacht

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The Coast Guard today gave up for lost the pleasure cruiser Shooting Star and its 10 passengers, including three Southern California politicians.

The week-long search for survivors of the craft, which sank off the coast of Mexico, officially ended last night, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The boat, carrying the politicians on an election victory cruise, sank about 50 miles off the coast of Baja California and about 250 miles south of the border.

Those presumed lost in the sinking included Orange County Supervisor Ronald W. Caspers of Santa Ana, Fred Harber, 55, prominent Democrat and former mayor of Buena Park and city manager of Cypress, and Thomas Klein, 26, executive assistant to the chairman of the Orange County board.

Defeated Legislators Due Pension Bonanza

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three California legislators who failed in their bids for statewide office — including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti — will be in line for a pension bonanza on retirement from state government.

Moretti, Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, and Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, will receive early pension benefits totalling just over $400,000 because of legislation passed by lawmakers in 1965.

The $403,017 bonus only includes retirement benefits until the three reach 60 years of age. The legislation was designed to protect legislators voted out of office because of reapportionment.

Normally, the legislative pension plan allows lawmakers to begin drawing their annual pensions when they reach 60 or after 15 years of service.

Moretti, who was defeated June 4 for the Democratic nomination for governor, will earn $182,000 in retirement benefits by the time he is 60 — at a rate of $8,292 a year. The 38-year-old legislator served 10 years in the Assembly.

All three of the public officials gave up their reelection chances in the legislature to run for the statewide offices.

Karabian failed in his bid for his party's nomination for secretary of state and Walsh in his contest for lieutenant governor.

All three of the men will receive the early pensions as long as they are not elected to another state office. The amount of the pension is based on the last salary level paid to the legislators and his years of service.

Walsh will receive $73,498 by the time he is 60 as will Karabian get benefits totalling $146,995.

Emery Moore, director of benefit payments for the state public employes pension system, said the pensions are computed through a complex formula.

He said the original law which gave legislators early pensions was passed in 1965 and amended in 1969 stating that anyone elected after December 31 of that year would no longer be eligible for the early retirement provision. Moore said because of the amendment the law will eventually phase itself out.

Timpanist In Court Over Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Elayne Jones, denied tenure in the San Francisco Symphony, today filed suit in federal court asking to keep her job and collect $50,000 in damages.

Mrs. Jones is a black timpanist and the only black employed in the orchestra. On May 15 she was denied tenure by a seven-man committee of the orchestra. She alleged in her petition that denial was based on her race and sex.

Her attorney, Allan Brotsky, said that the symphony had just offered to extend his client's employment as timpanist through the 1974-75 season.

"We will have to study the offer and if it maintains the status quo, we will probably accept," Brotsky said.

He added that a complaint would be filed later with the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

The suit asked for $50,000 from the Symphony Association and the Musicians Union of San Francisco Local Number 6, for "intentional infliction of emotional distress and anguish."

The suit also would prohibit the Symphony Association from changing her status as a probationary member of the orchestra.

San Rafael Tavern Hit By Bandits

Three armed men wearing stocking masks burst into a San Rafael tavern yesterday and fled with $350 after binding several customers with cord and tape.

San Rafael Police said one of the bandits entered through the front door of the Music Box tavern at 1618 Second Street while two accomplices rushed in the rear door. One man leveled a revolver at bartender Jesse P. Hays while the other two bound several customers at gunpoint, forcing them to lie on the floor.

Two of four customers who walked into the bar during the robbery also were forced to lie on the floor. Two others fled and called police.

The trio of robbers took $320 from a cash register and $30 from customers, according to police. The bandits, all in their late 20s or early 30s, escaped in a yellow car, police said.

The robbery occurred shortly after midnight.

Today is Friday, June 21, the 172nd day of 1974 with 193 to follow.

This is the first day of summer. The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

Martha Washington, first lady of the United States, was born June 21, 1731.

On this day in history:

In 1945, Japanese defenders of Okinawa Island surrendered to American troops.

In 1960, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said, "... War with capitalistic nations is not inevitable." Communist China replied: "War is inevitable as long as Western imperialism exists."

In 1963, Cardinal Giovanni Battista Montini was elected pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church. He chose to be called Pope Paul VI.

In 1973, President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev signed an agreement on an 18-month effort to reach a permanent arms pact.

Department Store Doubletalk Applied To Four-Heart Contract

The secret of running a successful department store, I was once told, is to lose a little on each item you sell. This gets you a lot of customers, and you make your profit on the volume of sales. This sort of doubletalk seems to describe the correct play of a certain kind of bridge hand.

HEART COUNT

The first glance tells you that you must lose two clubs and two diamonds. Aren't you happy to have no heart losers?

Ruff the first heart with a high trump, saving the deuce of spades for a later job. Lead the king of spades and a high spade to dummy's ace.

Now lead a heart from the dummy and discard a low diamond or club. West wins and returns a diamond to force out the ace. Lead the deuce of spades to dummy's four. Return a heart from dummy and discard a diamond from your hand.

THE 10TH TRICK

West wins and can cash one diamond at most. You get to dummy with the ace of clubs in time to discard a club on dummy's last heart, which has become established as your 10th trick.

West cannot defeat you by leading a club instead of a diamond after you give him the first heart. If he does this, you win with dummy's ace of clubs and discard a club on the next heart. You will later lead the deuce of spades to dummy's four and will then discard a diamond on the last good heart.

COST NOTHING

Each time you give up a heart trick, you throw a loser in exchange. For this reason your heart losses don't really cost you anything. In the end, you develop a heart trick to assure the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold:

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade.

You have only 10 points in high cards, but anybody who fails to open the bidding with this hand must be running for pessimist of the year.

Shopping Center Tenants Sought

North Pacific Construction Co. is still working to obtain tenants for a proposed 7.5 acre shopping center at San Marin and San Andreas drives, according to Joseph H. West, president of the San Marin Improvement Association.

West told association members Wednesday the proposed center is "still in the cards" after they became concerned about reports the project was being dropped.

Busy Airport

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago's O'Hare International Airport claims the world's largest elevated parking structure, dozens of restaurants and snack shops, a bank and employment for more than 30,000 persons among its services.

Younger's Pledge On Prop. 9

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said yesterday his office will "fully and completely enforce" Proposition 9, the new campaign reform law approved by the voters this month.

At the same time, he said he is imposing a $5,000 limit on the amount of money he will accept from any one contributon to his re-election campaign and he called on his Democratic opponent, William Norris, to do the same.

Younger told a news conference Proposition 9 was "a major step toward restoring the public's confidence in our political system."

But, he said, "The people are still upset and concerned over the huge amounts of money being poured into campaign coffers from a handful of the rich."

He said it was imperative that the attorney general, as the chief law officer of the state, not become "captive to these few vested interests" and therefore he was imposing the $5,000 limit on contributions to his campaign.

New Finance Director Named In Mill Valley

John D. Tweedie has been promoted from accounting supervisor for the City of Mill Valley to director of finance, City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher announced yesterday.

Tweedie, 38, has been with the city a year. He replaces Carl W. Reynolds who left the city last July to work as fiscal director and city treasurer for the City of San Mateo.

Tweedie's salary will be raised from $12,300 per year to $15,300 in his new job, Usher said.

Previously, Tweedie worked 15 years as an accountant for Victor Equipment Co. in San Francisco. He holds a degree in accounting from Golden Gate University.

He is married and lives in San Rafael.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Family Style Dinner — Ristorante Topolino Has Original Theme

The "family style dinner" has long been among the dining-outer's best bets in holding down the tab of a full restaurant meal.

It is subject to several different interpretations, according to the chosen format of the individual restaurant. Some categorize it as the type of service you'll find at Occidental's three famous Italian restaurants or as it has been offered for years at certain little spots in San Francisco's North Beach.

It may be in the form of "special dinners" presented in addition to a more varied a la carte menu — or the entire menu may be built up to give the appearance that it is all family style. Usually it involves from one to three of the courses served at the table in a common receptacle but seldom are two places exactly alike in their presentations.

One restaurant that has its own interpretation — probably as close as you'll find these days to the original theme — is the Ristorante Topolino in Sausalito. The menu is rotated daily and all dinners are $5.50, with the exception of one everyday specialty (steak and mushrooms) at $6.75.

All dinners include antipasto, minestrone soup (or clam chowder on Fridays), pasta delgiorno and mixed green salad. Servings are generous so if you have enough room for dessert you pay extra for it.

Monday entrees are roast beef au jus or chicken cacciatore; closed Tuesdays; Wednesday offers veal parmigiana or chicken marengo; Thursday veal piccata or chicken saute sec; Friday stuffed breast of veal Florentine or a cioppino; Saturday — like Monday — roast beef or chicken cacciatora; Sunday — pot roast or roast chicken with rice.

Everyday specials (besides the steak) are cannelloni and lasagne al forno, both $5.50. Specials are also family style. Chef Rene Lambert is a Frenchman, but I never knew a French chef who couldn't adapt to Italian or other European cuisine. Co-owner and manager Leo Cantayre is French, too. There are wines from California vineyards, Italy and France.

Ristorante Topolino has other appealing features. It is comfortably good to look at inside and outside. The decor was done with considerable care. It has a nice cocktail lounge and general liquor license to go with it, but the bar operation is secondary to the food. Parking (in the front, side or back) is ordinarily no problem.

DINING

It does a good business and is attracting much of the "family trade." (Youngsters under 12 go for $3). I thoroughly enjoy the food and my wife thinks the spaghetti sauce is like hers. Basta — what else can be said to recommend it?

A RESTAURANT whose table help serves the customers and then performs for their evening entertainment — this is the current scene at the rear of 1122 Fourth Street, San Rafael on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Actually it's more in line to say that talented members of the theatrical cast of the San Francisco Repertory Co. first step in to serve the audience before getting on with the show. Either way you put they do a professional job in both capacities —and it should also be mentioned that the food is good.

Site of this double presentation is the Inside Out Cafe, which ordinarily serves only lunches on business days at the rear of The Great Store, but during the summer also functions as a dinner theater three nights a week. Tables are arranged along the walls of the dining room and the center becomes a stage — which everyone can see.

You could go for the show alone and pay $4 but you'd be missing half of the fun. Dinner and show together are $8.50 and well worth it. If you went to San Francisco for comparable functions at separate locations you'd pay a lot more, plus extra for tolls, parking and gas.

Store and restaurant owner S. E. (Gene) Schankel does not appear in the show but he does more than his part by acting as co-producer, lighting designer and offering a splendid meal consisting of aperatif, soup, salad, entree and dessert. Good wines and beers are available. (His lunches, by the way, are also excellent and priced $2.25 - $2.60. Menu is changed daily).

The show has already been given good reviews. Suffice it to say here that there is no stage scenery and props are held to a minimum. It is a testimonial to the actors' ability that you don't miss any lack of either. Tomorrow night's play is again "June Moon" by George Kauffman and Ring Lardner, which is also featured next Thursday. Next Friday is "Silly Putty" (on-the-spot improvisations per audience suggestions) and next Saturday is that old favorite, "The Drunkard." Alternate presentations of all these plus Harold Pintner's "Old Times" go on three nights a week through August.

Doors open at 7 p.m. for dinner. The show begins after the entree is served, coffee and dessert are at intermission. Make reservations at The Great Store. You'll enjoy it.

LOOK AT ANY DINERY'S MENU and the odds are that you'll find something there about its "minimum charge per person." It could be set at $1.50 but more frequently it's $2, $3 or even more, according to the status of the restaurant. Don't ignore it. It means exactly what is says.

It can mean that if you take up space at the table and order no more than coffee or a bowl of soup you're stuck for the minimum charge, even if you're just sitting there with friends who are ordering an entire meal.

You have to remember that food costs to a restaurant are often substantially less than 50 per cent of the menu price. The rest is the expense of serving you. By your presence at the table you incur a share of the restaurant's operating expenses — no matter what you order, even a glass of water or nothing at all.

JOE KARA AND BERND ACKERMAN, who used to have the Gate 5 Restaurant in Sausalito and sold it (it's now the Sausalito Food Co. Restaurant), are back in the food buisness again with another dinery but not in Marin.

They have recently opened the Bistro At Webster at Webster and Lombard Streets, San Francisco. As before, their food is European, predominantly French. The place is small but nicely decorated. If you liked the meals at Gate 5 you can put this down on your list as a restaurant to visit on one of your San Francisco trips.

FRED CHERRY'S WINE DISCOVERY CLUB has another dinner and wine experience planned for next Wednesday night at 7:30 at Peta's Restaurant in the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, 631 O'Farrel Street, San Francisco.

Both food and wines will be Czechoslovakian, calculated to appeal to the epicures. Club members are entitled to two tickets at $15. Non-members and guests will pay $17. Checks should accompany reservations, made out to the Wine Discovery Club and mailed to the Fred Cherry Co., 470 Columbus Avenue, San Francisco. You'll be registered for admittance at the door.

Japan's Big Catches Of Whales Hit

TOKYO (AP) — Kujira-ya, or the Whale Shop, is a well-known Tokyo restaurant that serves nothing but whale meat — deep fried, barbequed, stewed or raw.

Waitresses in white uniforms scurry about with platters of whale steak or uncooked whale "Sashimi." Patrons consume the fare, apparently little concerned that the hunting and eating of whales has made Japan the target of an international conservationist movement.

The conservationists claim that despite quotas set by the International Whaling Commission, the whale population is decreasing rapidly and certain species already are nearing extinction.

Japan and the Soviet Union are responsible for 85 per cent of the world whale catch each year. Norway, Australia, Brazil and South Africa account for the remaining 15 per cent.

But Japan is considered the major culprit by conservationists, and not only because it caught 13,346 whales last year. The Japanese government has led the opposition against an American-proposed, 10-year ban on whaling.

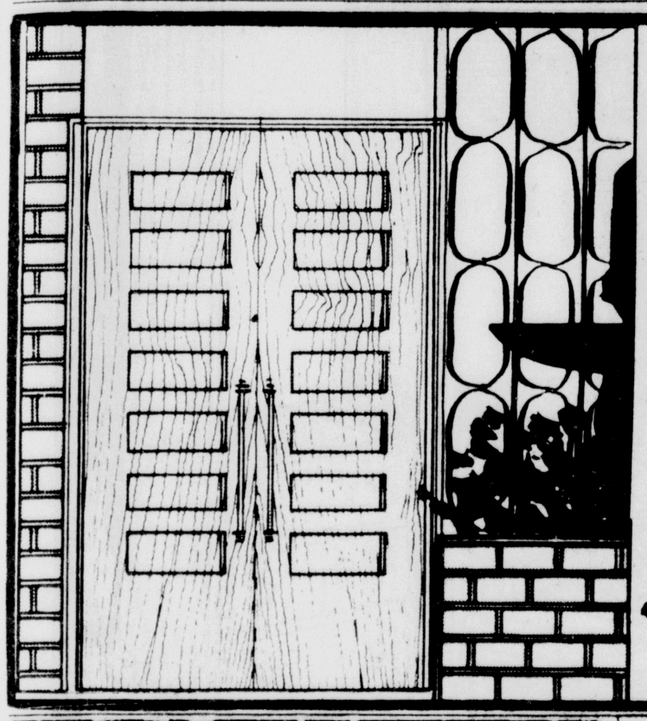

The United States considers whales "ecologically important creatures" and has taken a strong stand against whaling at international commission meetings in recent years.

At the next meeting, scheduled to open Monday in London, the American side will again propose a 10-year moratorium on whaling and is more reluctant than ever to see it vetoed once more by Japan.

Washington has informed the government here that Japanese fish products would be boycotted under the Pelley Amendment to the U.S. Fishermen's Protective Act unless whaling ended. The United States now imports about $200 million worth of salmon, tuna, shrimp and other seafood from Japan.

Some American wildlife groups and congressmen would like to go even farther, calling for an expanded embargo to include all Japanese-made goods — from electronic calculators to compact automobiles — if Japan persists in catching whales.

The fear in Japan now is that it may be forced to give up its lucrative whaling industry and also could loose the right to fish in foreign coastal waters as a result of the current Law of the Sea Conference in Caracas, Venezuela. This could spell disaster for Japan's mammoth fishery companies.

BLAZE — Firemen pull up their hoses after an unsuccessful attempt to stop a fire which burned about 45 acres of grass, brush and trees near Marinwood yesterday before being brought under control. Children playing with matches were blamed for the summer's first big grass fire.

Stubborn Fire Burns 45 Acres Of Grass

A stubborn, smoky fire whipped by swirling winds burned about 45 acres of grass near Marinwood yesterday before firemen from three departments and planes dropping borate could control it.

Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield of the Marinwood Fire Department said the fire was started by children playing with matches near a television tower west of Marinwood.

At the height of the fire, when the blaze blew back toward firemen on a ridge, a 16-year-old youth, working for the summer as a fireman, suffered burned feet and hands.

Bill Magday of St. Vincent's School for Boys was treated at Marin General Hospital for minor burns and smoke inhalation.

The fire was reported at 1:58 p.m. by a resident of Marinwood.

Eight units from the Marin County Fire Department, three from Marinwood and a crew from the Novato Fire Department fought the blaze while three planes dropped borate.

Chief Bonfield said fire fighting efforts were hampered by winds atop Queenstone Ridge as well as the irregular terrain. Grass, trees and brush were burned before firemen controlled the fire at 5:28 p.m. The last firemen left the scene at 9 p.m.

Firm's President Sets Retirement

ST LOUIS (UPI) — Donal W. Douglas Jr. will retire July 26 as president of the Douglas Development Co. and as corporate vice president of McDonnel Douglas.

Douglas, whose retirement was announced yesterday, joined the Douglas Aircraft Co. Inc. in 1937 and was president and chief operating officer when McDonnel merged in 1967.

High Court Upholds Non-Parent Custody Of Czech Youngsters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court ruled yesterday that a juvenile court can award custody of a child to a non-parent if parental custody would be detrimental.

The 5-2 decision came in a case which arose after Soviet troops occupied Czechoslovakia in 1968 and a Czech father fled to California with his two children, now 10 and 11 years of age.

The father died in 1969 but indicated his desire that the children remain in the United States, either with his mother or with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith of San Bernardino County.

A juvenile court awarded the children to the Smiths. Later their mother sought custody and the court in 1971 ordered them returned to her in Czechoslovakia. The foster parents refused to give up custody.

The court found the mother a fit parent but expressed concern about her difficulties in relating to both her present and former husbands, the lack of warmth she displayed toward the children and the fact the children had adapted to living in America.

RED CARPET REALTORS® COUNSEL CORNER

Dear Councellor:

What Is leverage? Why is it important in Real Estate Investing?

—Mr. & Mrs. Don B.

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Don B.

Leverage means controlling a large investment with a small amount of money. This is done by borrowing or mortgaging. As an example, a house worth $50,000 is purchased with $5,000 down. Say that inflation increases the value of the home to $55,000. Your $5,000 investment is now worth $10,000. Though the home only went up 10%, your share went up 100%. This can more than offset the interest paid to borrow the money (even at the current interest rates!) This concept applies whether you are buying to live in or to rent out (with the tenants paying your loan payments!)

Twinkle Toes In Sausalito

By PAUL LIBERATORE

When Busby Berkeley was choreographing candybox Hollywood musicals in the '30s, Pat Else, who now lives in Marin was growing up in Liverpool, taking dancing lessons and dreaming about hoofing on stage herself someday.

By the time she was 11, with nine years of dance classes behind her already, she had achieved her dream. She was teaching tap and ballet and was well into a career on the English vaudeville stage, performing in chorus lines similar to Radio City's Rockettes, at showplaces like the empire theater and royal court.

She was encouraged by a mother who once had designs for a professional dancing career, but was forced to dabble in real estate to help support her family. Pat's father, a sailor, was at sea most of the time.

Dancing offered a creative outlet, a little pocket money and brought some glitter to the drab prewar years in industrial Liberpool.

Following World War II, "I very rebelliously ran off and eloped and immediately had four boys," Mrs. Else explained. She settled with her husband in Canada, and the demands of her new family slowed her career, but didn't stop it.

While she was raising her sons, she kept on teaching the syncopated, patent-leather-shoe steps that were the rage in her childhood and have become the object of loving nostalgia and revival in 1974.

Mrs. Else's husband died 10 years ago. Her sons are grown and she arrived in Marin last year, about the same time, as she tells it, "that I saw evidence that the '30s were coming in again."

Marin County is not exactly Hollywood in the '30s, nor are there many English dance halls around. The closest art deco palace is the Paramount Theater, recently restored and squatting in gilded splendor across the bay in Oakland.

But Marin harbors its own tap troupe, the Sausalettes, founded by Mrs. Else, now 43, and a resident of San Rafael. Although none of its members lives in Sausalito (most come from Fairfax, San Anselmo and Mill Valley), the group draws its name from the city because on most Thursday nights it can be found tippy-tapping in rehearsal at the Garden of Delights on the Sausalito Waterfront.

The number of Sausalettes varies, but regular dancers include Joan Wilde, Joan Vanoni, Tracy Fitzgerald, Althea Lewis, Karen Clinton, Madeline Hoenig, Judith Ladner, Nancy Fisch and Sonia Stanton. A few moonlight as the dancing Keester Sisters.

Most are in their 20s and all are 9-to-5 working people for whom dancing "is not their whole life by any means," Mrs. Else explains.

They do it for fun and because of the sentimental allure of top hat and tails, black and white satin and patent tap shoes. "It's great escapism," Mrs. Else explains. "That's the good of it."

The Sausalettes made their debut at a follies show by the University of California extension in San Francisco last August, on the same bill with the Cockettes. They appeared at a political fund raiser in April at the Boathouse in Sausalito and are available for shows and parties by contacting Mrs. Else at the Garden of Delights. She also teaches dance classes at the Young Women's Christian Association.

The troupe is now breaking in new material and venturing into advanced technique, aiming towards tap routines for swing and jazz music.

"The way people are going into the 30s nostalgia thing, we're going to burn up the reliving of that time pretty fast," Mrs. Else acknowledges.

But she has retained her love for tap dancing throughout her life and believes her students will carry on the tradition of Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers and Gene Kelly, no matter how the trendy winds of nostalgia blow.

"After all," she says, "tap dancing is as timeless and wonderful as jazz is."

Wife Of Krug Asks Dissolution

The wife of Edward M. Krug of San Rafael, a Sonoma County deputy district attorney and unsuccessful candidate for Marin district attorney in the June 4 election, filed yesterday for dissolution of the couple's nine-year marriage.

Pamela R. Krug cited irreconcilable differences in asking the dissolution.

According to the petition, the Krugs were married Aug. 19, 1967, in San Francisco, and separated June 13. They have two children, Gregory S., 6, and Jennifer S., 3.

Both Sides Brace For Long Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Both sides in the four-day-old Northern California carpenters strike braced for a long struggle that, according to employers, eventually could affect 100,000 workers.

"We're prepared to stay out for a year or more if we have to," Joe O'Sullivan, secretary of Carpenters Union Local 22, said yesterday when about 55,000 workers and $500 million in projects were idled by a lockout.

Wendell Reed, labor chairman for the Associated General Contractors, said the lockout was directed against picket lines thrown up by 15,000 carpenters who demanded a pay increase of $1.75 to $12.70 an hour.

"They're using economic pressure on our members, so we're placing economic pressure on their members," Reed said. He said if the strike continued, up to 100,000 men could be thrown out of work.

"All carpenters who have walked off or been pulled off their jobs will not be provided with work," added Richard Munn, AGC executive director.

Reed said the demand for a pay increase was "totally irresponsible" and that the costs would have to be passed on to the consumer.

He said the AGC has entered or scheduled bargaining talks with five other trade unions, all of which would want a similar raise if the carpenters get their way.

Among the projects affected by the strike is the $108 million New Melones Dam.

In Marin, the strike picture remained unchanged today with about 100 carpenters off the job at several large projcts, according to William T. Wilson, financial secretary of Carpenters Union Local 35 in San Rafael.

Projects halted by the strike include the Courthouse Square project in downtown San Rafael, freeway bypass in Novato and Greenwood Bay condominiums near Tiburon.

Wilson said union members will vote Tuesday on a pay agreement with the Northern California Homebuilders Conference. Homebuilders' projects in the county have not been affected by the strike.)

Wildlife Study

The Novato Flood Control Zone advisory board will hear a report on ways to lessen the effects on wildlife of the proposed Novato Creek Flood Control Project at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

County May Help On College Pool

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has offered to provide county funds — up to $273,000 — for an Olympic-size swimming pool at the new Indian Valley Colleges, Marin Community College District trustees learned Wednesday. (See also Supervisors Budget story, page 1.)

Total cost of pool construction —scheduled for completion in 1977 — is estimated at $495,000.

The county also would contribute a share of maintenance expenses, in return for the college's promise to permit all county residents to use the facility.

The college district earlier had sought funding from the state, according to district publicist Earlene Jones, but was told the state only would provide $80,000 for a smaller pool.

The Marin Community College District Board also:

RELEASE TIME — Authorized an additional 20 units of time free from class assign ment — to be used for administration —to the chairmen of 10 departments, at a total cost of $10,636.

STAFF — Appointed Mrs. Elaine Overton as financial aids officer at a salary of $1,015 per month.

FACULTY — Made the following appointments to teaching posts: Richard Cameron Hall, art; and David G. White, business education, both at the Kentfield campus; Joyce Kuns, English; Harry Bartlett, history and geography, and Dominick Geluardi, business, all at the Indian Valley Colleges.

HANDICAPPED — Agreed to spend $20,000 in district funds — in return for an $80,000 state outlay —for changes in building access and restrooms to facilitate training and hiring of handicapped persons.

BUDGET WORKSHOP — Set a workshop session to discuss the tentative district budget for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the board room at College of Marin.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Trustees are expected to adopt a preliminary budget at the session.

Park Use Too Heavy For Willow Grove?

Sausalito Parks and Recreation Commissioners last night agreed that an historic willow grove on the site of the proposed Whiskey Springs development is too small and fragile to be a public park.

Commissioners decided that the grove, at the southern end of the old American Distillery Co. property at Bridgeway and Nevada Street, should be preserved as a "scenic easement," accoridng to Public Works Director Norman Wohlschlaeger.

Whiskey Springs developer, Duffel Financial and Construction Co., has offered the picturesque parcel to the city as part of its proposal for a commercial and residential development on the 13-acre site. The Willows, called saucelitos in Spanish, are the source of the city's name.

Under the plan favored by commissioners, the developer would be responsible for maintaining the area.

The commission's recommendation will go to the city council.

Collegians Pick Officers

Earl G. Marshall Jr., a 19-year-old prelaw student at the College of Marin, has been elected president of the college's associated students for the 1974 fall semester.

Marshall and other student government officers were elected yesterday by the seven-member board of directors of the associated students.

He is a second year student at the college and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Marshall, at 1800 Marion Avenue, Novato.

Other student officers elected were Robert Allred, college governance vice president; Arla Norton, reasurer; Russell Bernadini, director of political affairs; Don Detrich, activities director; Marc Hildebrand, college center representative; and Ann Hall, director of student services.

Scout's Parents Misidentified

Charles D. Ramsey, whose eagle scout award was announced in Wednesday's Independent-Journal, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsey of Corte Madera, not of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Ramsey as reported.

Ramsey also was described as a Little League umpire when, in fact, he announces games and does field preparation for the Twin Cities Little League.

Here's the rarest sports car in captivity — the popular, economical little Opel GT Sport Coupe. This little two-passenger bug gets better than 25 miles per gallon of gas and lets you feel like driving is fun again.

We've just processed this Opel through our shop and it doesn't need a thing in the way of repair. In fact, we've just refinished the exterior in the original light blue color. 324BPQ.

ORDINANCE NO. 1155
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING CHAPTER 12.16 OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE ENTITLED UNIFORM PLUMBING CODE, 1973 EDITION

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. Chapter 12.16 entitled Uniform Plumbing Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Chapter 12.16 Uniform Plumbing Code.

12.16.010 ADOPTION OF UNIFORM PLUMBING CODE. There is adopted, for the purpose of providing minimum requirements for the protection of life, limb, health, property, safety and the general welfare of the general public, that certain code known as the Uniform Plumbing Code, 1973 Edition including the appendix thereof, adopted by the International Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials at the Forty-third Annual Conference, October, 1972, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, added thereto or amended not less than three copies of the Uniform Plumbing Code, 1973 Edition, including the appendix thereof, are now on file and have been on file in the office of the City Clerk for at least fifteen days prior to this date, and the Uniform Plumbing Code, including the appendix thereof, are adopted and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth in full.

12.16.020 ADMINISTRATION. The Uniform Plumbing Code including the appendix thereof, adopted by Sec. 12.16.010 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

1. This ordinance shall be known as the Uniform Plumbing Code, may be cited as such and will be referred to in this ordinance as "this code".
2. The provisions of this code shall apply to all new construction, relocated building, and to any alterations, repairs or reconstruction except as provided for otherwise in this code.
3. Whenever the term "administrative authority" is used in this code it shall be construed to mean the Chief Building Inspector or his authorized representative.
4. The administrative authority shall maintain public office hours necessary to efficiently administer the provisions of this code and amendments thereto and shall perform the following duties:
   a. Require submission of, examine and check plans and specifications, drawings, descriptions and or diagrams necessary to show clearly the character, kind and extent of work covered by applications for a permit and upon examination thereof shall deny or issue the permit applied for.
   b. Keep a permanent, accurate record of all permits issued, the fee charged, the name of the applicant and the location or premises to which the permit relates.
   c. Administer and enforce the provisions of this code in a manner consistent with the intent thereof and shall inspect all plumbing and drainage work authorized by any permit to assure compliance with provisions of this code or amendments thereto, approving or condemning said work in whole or in part as conditions require.
   d. Condemn and reject all work done or being done or materials used or being used which do not in all respects comply with the provisions of this code or amendments thereto.
   e. Investigate any construction or work regulated by this code and issue such notices and orders as hereinafter provided for.
5. Any portion of a plumbing system found by the administrative authority to be insanitary as herein defined is hereby declared to be a public nuisance.

Whenever brought to the attention of the department having jurisdiction that any insanitary conditions exist or that any construction or work regulated by this code is dangerous, unsafe, insanitary, a nuisance or a menace to life, health or property or otherwise in violation of this code, the said department may request an investigation by the administrative authority who, upon determining such information to be fact, shall order any person, firm or corporation using or maintaining any such condition or responsible for the use or maintenance thereof to discontinue the use or maintenance thereof or to repair, alter, change, remove or demolish same as he may consider necessary for the proper protection of life, health or property and in the case of any gas piping or gas appliance may order any person, firm or corporation, supplying gas to such piping or appliance to discontinue supplying gas thereto until such piping or appliance is made safe to life, health or property.

Refusal, failure or neglect to comply with any such notice or order shall be considered a violation of this code.

When any plumbing system is maintained in violation of this code and in violation of any notice issued pursuant to the provisions of this section of where a nuisance exists in any building or on a lot on which a building is situated, the Administrative Authority shall institute any appropriate action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction to prevent, restrain, correct, or abate the violation or nuisance.

6. The issuance or granting of a permit or approval of plans and specifications shall not be deemed or construed to be a permit for, or an approval of, any violation of any of the provisions of this code. No permit presuming to give authority to violate or cancel the provisions of this code shall be valid, except insofar as the work or use which it authorized is lawful.

The issuance or granting of a permit or approval of plans shall not prevent the administrative authority from thereafter requiring the correction of errors in said plans and specifications or from preventing construction operations being carried on thereunder when in violation of this code or of any other ordinance or from revoking any certificate of approval when issued in error.

Every permit issued by the Administrative Authority under the provisions of this code shall expire by limitation and become null and void, if the work authorized by such permit is not commenced within sixty (60) days from date of such permit, or if the work authorized by such permit is suspended or abandoned at any time after the work is commenced for a period of one hundred twenty (120) days. Before such work can be recommended a new permit shall be first obtained so to do, and the fee therefor shall be one-half the amount required for a new permit for such work, provided no changes have been made, or will be made in the original plans and specifications for such work; and provided, further, that such suspension or abandonment has not exceeded one (1) year.

7. It shall be unlawful for any person to install, remove, alter, repair or replace or cause to be installed, removed, altered, repaired or replaced any plumbing, gas or drainage piping work or any fixture or water heating or treating equipment in a building or premises without first obtaining a permit to do such work from the administrative authority.

A separate permit shall be obtained for each building or structure.

No person shall allow any other person to do or cause to be done any work under a permit secured by a permittee except persons in his employ.

8. No permit shall be required in the case of any repair work as follows: The stopping of leaks in drains, soil, waste or vent pipe, provided, however, that should any trap, drainpipe, soil, waste or vent pipe be or become defective and it becomes necessary to remove and replace the same with new material in any part or parts, the same shall be considered as such new work and a permit shall be procured and inspection made as hereinbefore provided. No permit shall be required for the clearing of stoppages or the repairing of leaks in pipes, valves or fixtures, when such repairs do not involve or require the replacement or rearrangement of valves, pipes, or fixtures.
9. A permit may be issued to a properly licensed person not acting in violation of any current contractor licensing law. Any permit required by this code may be issued to any person to do any work regulated by this code in a single family dwelling used exclusively for living purposes, including the usual accessory buildings and quarters in connection with such buildings in the event that any such person is the bona fide owner of any such dwelling and accessory buildings and quarters, and that the same are occupied by said owner, provided, that said owner shall personally purchase all material and shall personally perform all labor in connection therewith.
10. Any person entitled to, under subsection 9, apply for and receive a permit shall make application on forms provided for that purpose. The administrative authority may require plans, specifications or drawings and such other information as he may deem necessary.

Upon review of the information submitted by the applicant, the administrative authority shall deny or issue upon payment of the required fee, the permit.

11. Every applicant, if issued a permit, shall pay at the time of issuance a fee in accordance with a resolution of the City Council

Any person who shall commence any work for which a permit is required by this code without first having obtained a permit therefor shall, if subsequently permitted to obtain a permit, pay double the permit fee fixed for such work, provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to emergency work when it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the administrative authority that such work was urgently necessary and that it was not practical to obtain a permit therefor before the commencement of the work. In all such cases a permit must be obtained as soon as it is practical to do so, and if there be an unreasonable delay in obtaining such permit, a double fee as herein provided shall be charged.

For the purpose of this section a sanitary plumbing outlet on or to which a plumbing fixture or appliance may be set or attached shall be construed to be a fixture. Fees for reconnection and retest of existing plumbing systems in relocated buildings shall be based on the number of plumbing fixtures, gas systems, water heaters, etc., involved.

When interceptor traps or house trailer site traps are installed at the same time as a building sewer on any lot, no sewer permit shall be required for the connection of any such trap to an appropriate inlet fitting provided in the building sewer by the permittee constructing such sewer.

When a permit has been obtained to connect an existing building or existing work to the public sewer or to connect to a new private disposal facility, backfilling or private sewage disposal facilities abandoned consequent to such connection is included in the building sewer permit.

12. All plumbing drainage systems shall be inspected by the administrative authority to insure compliance with all the requirements of this code.
13. It shall be the duty of the person doing the work authorized by the permit to notify the administrative authority orally or in writing, that said work is ready for inspection. Such notification shall be given not less than twenty-four (24) hours before the work is to be inspected.

It shall be the duty of the person doing the work authorized by the permit, to make sure that the work will stand the tests prescribed elsewhere in this code, before giving the above notification.

12.16.030 AMENDMENTS TO THE UNIFORM PLUMBING CODE. The Uniform Plumbing Code adopted by Sec. 12.16.010 is hereby amended as follows: the chapter and/or section numbers herein after referred to are the chapter and/or section numbers of the Uniform Plumbing Code.

Sec. 1111 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 1111: Every private sewer disposal system, when permitted by the City Council shall be in accordance with and subject to the rules, regulations and requirements of the Marin County Department of Environmental Health, and shall be subject to such fees as said department may impose.

12.16.040 RIGHT OF ENTRY. Whenever necessary to make an inspection to enforce any of the provisions of this code, or whenever the administrative authority has reasonable cause to believe there exists in any building or upon any premises, any condition which makes such building or premise a nuisance as defined in Sec. 12.16.020-5 of this ordinance, the administrative authority may enter such building or premises at all reasonable times to inspect the same or to perform any duty imposed upon the administrative authority by this code and ordinance, provided that if such building or premises be occupied he shall first present the proper credentials and demand entry; and if such building or premises be unoccupied he shall first make a reasonable effort to locate the owner or other persons having charge or control of the building or premises and demand entry. If such entry is refused the administrative authority shall have recourse to every remedy provided by law to secure entry, including the warrant provisions of Section 1822.50 et seq. of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California.

No owner or occupant or any other persons having charge, care or control of any building or premises shall fail or neglect, after proper demand is made as herein provided, to promptly permit entry therein by the administrative authority for the purpose of inspection and examination pursuant to this code. Any person violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

12.16.050 PENALTY FOR VIOLATION. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this chapter shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and each such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for each and every day or portion thereof during which any violations of any of the provisions of this chapter is committed, continued, punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the Marin County jail for not more than six months or by such fine and imprisonment.

12.16.060 BOARD OF APPEALS. In order to provide for final interpretation of the provisions of this code and to hear appeals for hereunder there is hereby established a board of appeals which shall be appointed by the Mayor or City Council.

The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

SECTION III. This ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage in Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

State Plans To Double Firefighting Workforce

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California will double its vital firefighter workforce to maintain the present level of protection and at the same time meet new federal wage rules, state forester Lewis A. Moran says.

At the same time, Moran said, the 120-hour work week put in by the small army of firemen hired to battle forest and brush fires during the peak danger season will be cut to 60 hours.

The doubling of the force to 3,200 men and the halving of the work hours will bring California into line with a new federal wage law that went into effect May 1 calling for minimum pay of $1.90 an hour, Moran said yesterday.

But the moves will require a $5.4 million addition to the state Division of Forestry's budget, Moran estimated.

State Director of Conservation Ray B. Hunter said he met with Gov. Ronald Reagan and his cabinet earlier this week to discuss the problem and needed money.

"The governor made it clear that he wants the present level of California Division of Forestry fire protection maintained throughout the state," Hunter said. "I intend to see to it that we do."

The 1974-75 state budget proposal currently before a two-house conference committee contains funds to cover the additional cost. The money was placed in the budget at the request of the Reagan administration and is expected to pass the committee.

The new federal wage law calls for minimum pay of $1.90 an hour for the seasonal firefighters who currently work a 120-hour week for $525 a month. The halving of the work week would avoid any overtime payment. Under the federal law, overtime starts after 60 hours.

"We think we're going to be in pretty good shape," Moran said. "We should have two shifts with twice as many men instead of one."

The forestry division directly protects about 28 million acres of mostly private land and additional acreage under contract with local agencies and the National Forest Service.

California has already been scorched this year by 10 major wildfires which charred 6,000 acres. And forestry officials say the state is confronted with a "serious potential fire problem" because of unusually heavy rainfall.

The rain encouraged heavy growth which summer heat will dry into fuel for wildfires.

NOISE BATTLE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making it difficult for noise pollution lawsuits to be filed against airports has passed the Assembly.

The measure (AB4426) by Assemblyman Raymond T. Seeley, R-Blythe, was approved on a bare minimum 41-28 vote and sent to the Senate yesterday.

It would extend from the end of this year until 1980 the termination date of provisions specifying that certain state airport noise regulations not be used or admitted in civil court actions.

HIGHER FEES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation increasing hunting and fishing license fees to bail out the financially troubled state Fish and Game Department has easily passed the Senate.

The bill (SB1650) by Sen. Dennis E. Carpenter, R-Newport Beach, was sent to the Assembly yesterday on a 24-6 vote with little debate.

Carpenter said the increase was needed to maintain fish and game programs at their current levels. The department has estimated it will run $2 million in the red this year, which could go as high as $3 million during the next fiscal year.

The basic hunting license fee would be increased from $6 to $10. But for an estimated 350,000 hunters, the burden would be eased somewhat by elimination of the present $2 pheasant stamp.

The basic price of fishing licenses for California's $2.3 million anglers would remain unchanged at $4. But the stamp allowing fishing in inland waters would be increased from $1 to $2 and the trout stamp fee from $2 to $3.

RACE SPENDING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation specifying the rights of cities and counties to place campaign spending restrictions on local races has been rejected by the Senate.

The bill (SB1698) by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, was defeated yesterday on a 14-16 vote, seven short of passage. Beilenson announced he would seek another vote sometime later.

The issue of whether local governments have such authority currently is muddled. At least one court has ruled they do, while the state attorney general has offered an opinion that they do not.

Sen. H. L. Richardson of Arcadia, a Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, argued, "It's an infringement on a person's right to contribute to the candidate of his choice."

TRANSPLANTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation designed to increase the number of organ transplants by establishing a new definition of death has won the approval of the Assembly.

The measure (AB3560) by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, was sent to the Senate yesterday on a 54-17 margin, the bare two thirds vote required for urgency bills which take effect immediately upon the governor's signature.

Under the bill, a person would be declared officially dead when his brain stops working rather than when his heart stops beating.

Arnett said such a definition of brain death would permit many more organ transplants—particularly kidney transplants—than now can be performed under the concept of heart death.

Arnett noted that often organs deteriorate substantially between the time the brain quits working and when the heart and respiratory systems halt. His bill declares death to occur when a person has "suffered irreversible cessation of brain function." Currently there is no state law on the subject.

Firm Goes High To Redeem Its Image

SANTA CLARA (AP) — Troubled stockholders of Memorex Corp. hired a new executive officer yesterday for more than $300,000 a year to redeem the once glamorous computer business from a financial abyss.

Stockholders approvd a contract recruiting Robert C. Wilson, 54, to become board chairman and chief executive officer of Memorex, a leading manufacturer of computer equipment and magnetic tape. Wilson is the former chief executive of Collins Radio Corp.

The agreement grants Wilson an option to acquire 250,000 Memorex shares at a price of $3.32 per share plus an annual base salary of $200,000 and a minimum annual bonus of $125,000.

"My purpose in coming to Memorex was not to liquidate but rather to build for the future," Wilson told the stockholders.

"Memorex does have massive and deep-seated problems. However these problems can be resolved by dedicated, talented people," he said.

Putting Wilson at the Memorex helm was a condition imposed by Bank of America, the principal lender, for arranging refinancing converting substantial Memorex debt into preferred stock.

In 1973 Memorex reportd a loss of $119 million on revenue of $177 million. With outstanding debt the company reported a negative net worth of $87 million.

"Every single one of our problems can be resolved. Their solutions will require professional skill, dedicated effort and time," Wilson said.

As one of the firm's significant opportunities, he cited successful prosecution of a $3.1 billion anti-trust suit against International business Machines Corp.

"Our suit against IBM is being vigorously pursued. It is our belief that ultimately we will prevail. However, the litigation will be expensive and may extend over a period of several years," Wilson said.

Shipload Of Bad Wine Held

ROME (UPI) — Police seized a ship in the port of Anzio yesterday in a crackdown on a ring accused of selling 13 million gallons of "wine" made from dregs and sugar.

Court sources said the suspect substance came from Sicily in a fleet of small ships over the past year and was passed off as a product of the Alban Hills near Rome.

Police said they seized the tanker Circe —named after the mythological sorceress who turned men into swine —shortly after it unloaded 234 tons of wine into trucks that took it to the Alban Hills.

They said the phony wine was not a health hazard.

Children To Hold Special Carnival

The carnival will be at the home of Denise Kitsmiller, 20 Greenfield Avenue, and the sale at the home of Debbie Smith, 39 Greenfield Avenue, according to Debbie Smith.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

It's Possible You Can Help Victim Of Grand Mal Seizure

In grand mal epilepsy, the victim loses consciousness, falls to the ground, and makes jerking movements with his arms and legs. He may froth at the mouth or bite his cheek or tongue. Although the seizure lasts only minutes, it leaves the victim exhausted, confused, and sleepy. Unfortunately, the child or adult has no control over where or when the attack will occur.

Most epileptics are spared this possibility because they take medication to prevent the seizures. But when the drugs do not bring complete control, the individual always is fearful of having a seizure in a public place.

EPILEPTIC CHILDREN often say they hope they can leave the classroom before an attack occurs so their friends won't see them. Working men and women may quit their jobs after having an epileptic attack. Those employed by less understanding companies may be asked to resign.

People who witness the attack are in a position to help. However, many laymen know so little about epilepsy, they may not know what to do for the victim during and after the convulsion. Onlookers should keep calm. Panic is not necessary because the victim is not suffering or in pain. Never try to stop the attack once it starts. Do not try to revive the victim. At one stage of the attack, he may seem to have stopped breathing, but don't panic. Breathing will start within a few moments. The seizure will run its course in a few minutes.

EASE THE victim to the floor, loosen tight clothing, turn his face to the side to allow the saliva to escape, and make sure there is no respiratory obstruction. Never force open his clenched jaws or try to put anything, including your fingers, into his mouth. Do not give him anything to drink. Someone should stay with the epileptic until all convulsive movements have ceased and he is conscious and no longer confused.

Children can be carried into a restroom, but adults should be allowed to lie right where they are until they are able to speak. When the person feels better, help him up and encourage him to go about his business. If a child is involved, call the parents or a physician and tell them what happened.

BLOOD PRESSURES

A. J. K. writes: I would appreciate an explanation for a medical technique I don't understand. When my blood pressure is taken, the pressure is, for example, 128 over 88. What is the meaning of one figure over the other?

REPLY

The first figure is the systolic pressure, which is the pressure within the arteries when the heart is pumping. The second (or diastolic) pressure represents the pressure within the artery between heartbeats. The systolic pressure fluctuates from minute to minute. The diastolic pressure is more stable and treatment is advisable when it is elevated beyond 90.

TIPPED UTERUS

Miss J. writes: Could a tipped uterus prevent pregnancy?

REPLY

Yes, and the abnormality can be corrected surgically. Wearing a pessary may bring temporary improvement.

INSANE OR NEUROTIC

A reader writes: Is there a difference between emotional and mental illness?

REPLY

Yes. A mentally ill person usually loses contact with reality and lives in a world of his own. He often has delusions or hallucinations and imagines, for example, that he is Napoleon. The neurotic represents a type of emotional illness. His anxieties, fears, and frustrations disturb his thinking or his relationship to others. In many instances, the emotional energy is converted into symptoms such as palpitation, indigestion, headache, or pain in various parts of the body.

VINEGAR AND ANEMIA

Mrs. E. writes: I use a considerable amount of vinegar in my cooking. Could this account for my anemia?

REPLY

No. Vinegar is acetic acid, a weak acid that alters the taste of food, but does nothing else.

EFFECTS OF DIURETICS

E. N. writes: Are there any dangers or benefits in taking a diuretic for high blood pressure for a number of years?

REPLY

There are many benefits and the only danger stems from the loss of too much potassium from the body. A deficiency of this chemical leads to thirst, bitter taste, indigestion, weakness, and fatigue. The potassium is easily replaced via medications and diets.

BLEEDING GUMS

A reader writes: Is bleeding from the gums due to decayed teeth or from foods, such as nuts and candy?

REPLY

Usually from periodontal disease. The gums are soft and inflamed (gingivitis or pyorrhea) and cavities may be present. For best results, consult your dentist.

A's Score Clean Knockout

Round 1 Of Fight For Lead

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics scored a clean knockout over the Kansas City Royals in round one of the fight for the American League West lead.

Catfish Hunter, breaking out of a personal slump, pitched a five-hitter to give the A's a 4-0 victory last night in the opener of the big four-game series.

Hunter, who is 9-8 for the season, had lost three straight games and had not won since June 3.

"I changed my pitching motion just a little," Hunter said. "I wasn't turning my arm enough. Wes Stock, the pitching coach, noticed it."

Hunter used only 88 pitches to subdue the Royals and give the A's a 1½-game lead over Kansas City, which dropped to third place a half game behind Texas.

"In the big game, Hunter is the one to pitch," second baseman Dick Green said. "We all get up for Kansas City, but Catfish just a little more so."

Green finished off the scoring with a two-run homer off losing pitcher Al Fitzmorris in the eighth inning. It was his first of the season.

Oakland scored its other two runs in the sixth inning. On a grounder by Joe Rudi, Bert Campaneris beat the throw to the plate for the first score of the game. Campy had singled, stolen second and moved to third on a ground out. Reggie Jackson, who had walked, scored the second run on a single by designated hitter Deron Johnson.

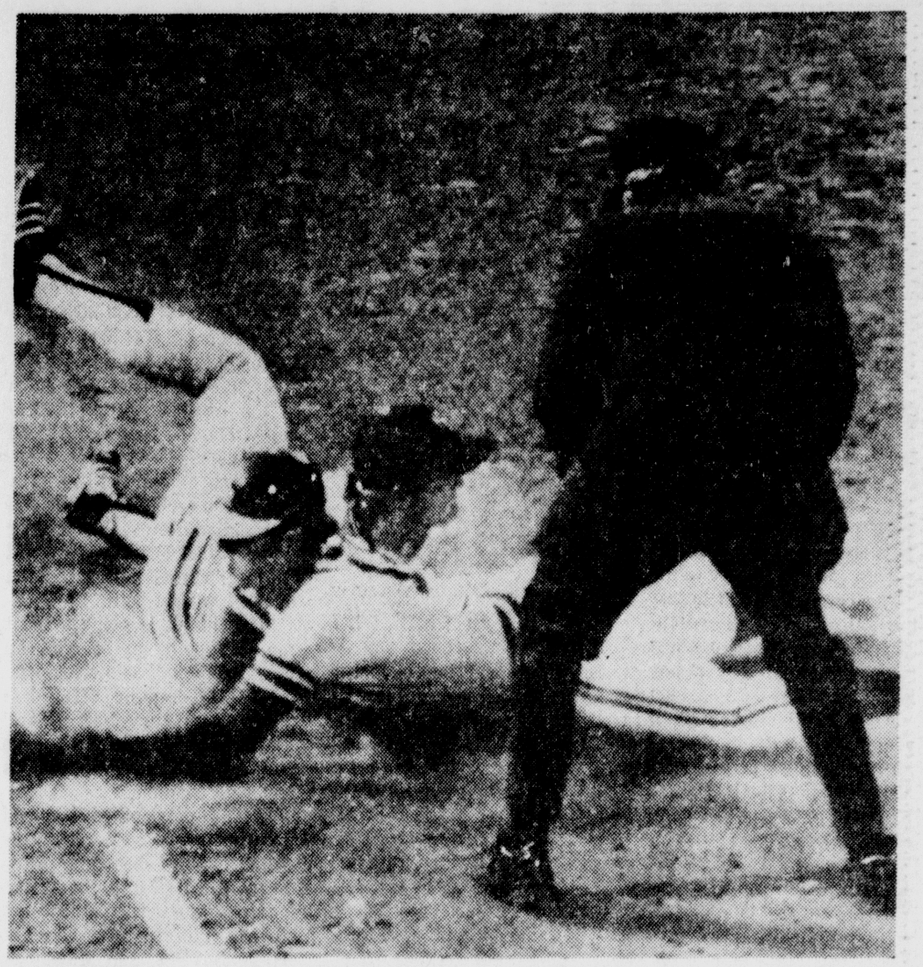

Kansas City had only one runner reach third base against Hunter. Amos Otis got an infield single in the first inning and advanced to third when Hunter made a wild throw on the play.

"He was really busting the ball," Kansas City slugger John Mayberry said of Hunter. "He was always ahead of the hitters."

The victory was only the fourth in the last 14 games for the A's, who are 4-2 against Kansas City.

In the second game of the series tonight at 8 o'clock, it will be left-hander Dave Hamilton, 4-1, for Oakland against Bruce Dal Canton, 3-4, of Kansas City.

See A's box score on inside page.

COLLISION — Kansas City pitcher George Brett last night tagged out sliding A's baserunner Gene Tenace at third base during the fifth inning at the Oakland Coliseum. Tenace was attempting to advance from second on a fly ball by Angel Mangual to center fielder Amos Otis. Umpire Larry Barnett made the call. (UPI Telephoto)

World Cup Security Tight

Germany Civil War In Soccer

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The world soccer cup turned personal today.

Divided Germany, as politely as a host can, turned its attention from the other 14 competing nations to the potentially bitter contest which brings Communist East Germany and non-communist West face-to-face in an international football match for the first time tomorrow.

Police said security would be tough. Thousands of detectives and uniformed officers were ordered on duty for the match at the 60,000-capacity Volkspark Stadium, raised on ruins of World War II.

Special patrols stood by for political demonstrations and the possibility activists would choose the opportunity to cause the first violent disruption of the soccer contest.

The anarchist urban guerrilla Baader-Meinhof group has threatened rocket attacks on the Hamburg stadium and police were making special checks of surrounding areas.

Officials gave permission to 3,000 East German fans to travel to Hamburg for the game. The rest of the crowd were likely to be West German fans rooting for a team which is favorite to win the Cup, but which has not found favor with home fans for its performances to date.

Three crises have hit the West Germans in the last two days:

—Captain Franz Beckenbauer was called on the carpet for spitting and gesturing at spectators booing his side's 3-0 victory over Australia. He agreed it was wrong, but said he was provoked.

— The team complained security measures were excessive and "driving us crazy."

—There were also complaints that trainer Helmut Schoen's two sessions daily training routine was too strict.

West Germany is already through to the second final round and the main battle is for second place between East Germany and Chile.

East Germany played its cards close to its chest today. Team physician Hans Zipfel said three first-choice players, Bernd Bransch, Juergen Sparwasser and Eberhard Vogel, were injured and unlikely to play. But there was no official word on the line-up and unlikely to be until shortly before kickoff.

The Chileans were pinning their hopes on a massive victory against Australia.

Preparations continued Thursday for the other crucial Saturday matches — Scotland vs. Yugoslavia and Brazil vs. Zaire.

Threat For Two Scotsmen

WEILNAU, Germany (UPI) — Police today received a threat from the Irish Republican Army that two Protestant members of the Scottish World Cup soccer team would be assassinated. A team spokesman said security measures in the Scottish training quarters had been immediately stepped up.

"We are taking this threat very seriously," said Reinhold Deckenbach, the German spokesman for the Scottish team.

Extra police with dogs moved in to guard the hotel where the Scots were staying and members of the team were told not to walk in the garden or swim in the pool.

Neither police nor team officials disclosed the name of the two players threatened.

The Scottish squad became the third team to receive a death threat since arriving for the tournament two weeks ago. Chile and Haiti have also been threatened, the South Americans by left-wing Berlin groups protesting the Chilean military junta and the Haitians anonymously.

There is bitter rivalry in Glasgow between the Protestant Rangers team and the predominately Roman Catholic Celtic team. The only Rangers player on the Scottish squad is fullback Sandy Jardine.

The threat came one day before Scotland was scheduled to meet Yugoslavia in Frankfurt in a match the Scots have to win to remain in contention for the cup.

ABA Buys Finley's Tams

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The American Basketball Association got down to the business today of deciding the makeup of the league for next season after the National Basketball Association rejected yesterday a possible merger of the two leagues.

"We're going to make ourselves a lot stronger next season and we may make the NBA regret its decision against the merger," said Mrs. Ellie Brown, board chairman of the Kentucky Colonels.

"The NBA Board of Governors put it off on the NBA Players Association for blocking the merger, but we could accept the players' terms. They're the ones who couldn't."

Girding for intensified interleague warfare, the ABA yesterday bought the Memphis franchise from Charlie Finley and was expected to decide today what to do with it.

Finley had been hoping to unload the Memphis franchise, a weakly-run operation, since last year, but could not reach terms with a prospective buyer, the Stax Record and Film Co. The league bought the franchise for what Finley called "a price I am very happy with."

He said he planned to divest himself of all his sports investments — except baseball's Oakland A's—on orders from his doctor after suffering a heart attack last summer.

Commissioner Mike Storen said the ABA would have to decide whether to keep the Tams in Memphis under new ownership, move the franchise to Los Angeles, or dissolve it

Toronto Granted Expansion Franchise

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association today voted to expand to Toronto for the 1975-76 season, but did not award the franchise to a specific group.

The move into Canada, which increases the league to 19 teams, backs up Commissioner Walter Kennedy's contention that the NBA "is going international and someday may have franchises in Europe."

Several Toronto groups have expressed interest in securing an NBA franchise, especially after last season when attendance for nine Buffalo Braves "home" games drew extremely well. Bill Ballard, owner of the Maple Leaf Gardens, where the games were played, probably is high on the list of people after this franchise.

No indemnification procedures were discussed by the NBA's Board of Governors concerning the incursion by the new club in Buffalo Braves territory. Nor was any mention made of the amount of money the Toronto franchise will cost. When New Orleans was taken into the league recently, the charge for the Jazz came to $6.15 million dollars.

No other franchise was under consideration on the final day of the league meetings. There is a possibility another city will be franchised before 1975-76 to even the alignment to 20 teams.

The topic of expanding to Toronto has been previously discussed and all the factors of fielding a team in the Canadian city was known. The board members voted promptly on the issue and then closed the four-day meetings.

Actually, Toronto is a charter member of the old Basketball Association of America, the forerunner of the NBA. The first game in NBA history was played in Toronto between the Toronto Huskies and the New York Knickerbockers on Nov. 1, 1946.

Try as they might, the NBA Board of Governors couldn't pick Commissioner Walter Kennedy's successor yesterday — but they did reject an abolition of the controversial option clause.

Kennedy, who has already resigned but will serve either until June 1, 1975 or until his successor is found, said that most of yesterday's meeting "was taken up with the discussion of a proposal negotiated between the NBA and the Players Association. The proposal would have eliminated the option clause, to be replaced by a form of right of first refusal for a team giving up a player at the time he finishes his contract."

But the owners rejected the proposal flatly.

"They didn't even have to take a vote," Kennedy said. The vote brought an abrupt halt to attempt to bring about a merger of the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

Giants Sign Top Pick Lee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have signed top draft pick Terry Lee, an 18-year-old second baseman from San Luis Obispo High School, who will report to the Great Falls, Mont., team in the Pioneer League.

Lee hit .323 in 21 games this spring. His brother, Mike, signed with the Giants last March and is with Decatur of the Midwest League.

At Great Falls, Terry will be reunited with his high school teammate, John Proud, a shortstop who signed with San Francisco last week.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Anatomy Of Koosman's Fatal Pitch Checkoff

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry Koosman shook off Jerry Grote. Then Mike Schmidt shook up Jerry Koosman.

Picking on a Koosman curve ball, the Philadelphia slugger belted a ball to the base of the center field wall before Dave Schneck hauled it in.

That out preserved a 2-1 victory for the New York Mets last night but left Koosman shaking his head.

"It was a tough, exciting game and I should have made better pitches," said Koosman after giving up 11 hits to the National League East leaders.

Koosman was in trouble down to the end, when the Phillies had a man on first and second base with two out and the dangerous Schmidt at the plate.

With the count three balls and one strike, New York catcher Grote called for a fastball and then a curve, but Koosman decided against both.

"If Schmidt is going to beat me, it's going to be with an offspeed pitch," said Koosman.

The left-hander offered a "knee-high curveball away" and Schmidt belted it about as far as you can inside spacious Veterans Stadium.

In the only other National League game yesterday, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0. In the American League, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0; the Texas Rangers turned back the California Angels 7-4 and the Oakland A's defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-0.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0

Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams led Chicago over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' victory string at six.

Twins 3, White Sox 2

Tony Oliva cracked a three-run homer off Wilbur Wood in the eighth inning, propelling Minnesota past Chicago.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0

Milwaukee, powered by John Briggs' first-inning grand-slam homer, whipped Baltimore behind the combined six-hitter of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy.

Rangers 7, Angels 4

Tom Grieve's three-run double highlighted a four-run rally in the eighth and powered Texas over California.

Seeds Advance In Mill Valley

The committee which seeded the 16th annual National Men's 35 Hardcourt Tennis championships should be very proud of itself.

All seeded singles players yesterday swept their second and third round matches at the Mill Valley Tennis Club and battled it out today in the quarter-final round.

Pre-tournament favorite Don Kierbow of Pleasanton showed why he was the top pick with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Jim Watson of Charlotte, N.C. in the second round and a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Gil Howard of San Francisco in the third round.

Second-seeded Tom Brown had a little more difficulty in his third-round match, but came on strong after losing the first set for a 1-6, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Ron Livingston of Arcadia.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, the third-seed, also dropped the first set, but came back to top Jim Nelson of Sherman Oaks, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, in the third round. He beat Dan Rivkind of New York, 6-3, 6-0, in the second round.

Fourth-seeded Jim Landin of Littleton, Colo., the 1972 champ, was extended in both rounds, but he prevailed, 7-6, 7-6, over George Yardley of Newport Beach in the second round and b t, 6-3, 6-2 over Don Gale of Alameda in the third.

Fifth-seeded Bob Duesler of Costa Mesa easily swept his two opponents. He beat Jack Darrah of Moraga, 6-2, 6-2, in the second round and then came back to take a 6-2, 6-1 win from Ernie Schoop of Pacific Palisades.

Clif Mayne, the sixth-seed from Lafayette, also had an easy time, beating Michael Makaroff of Denver, 6-0, 6-1, in the second round and Larry Dodge of Oakland, 6-2, 6-4 in the third.

Seventh-seeded Fred Hagist of Bakersfield beat Norm Peterson of Tucson, Ariz., 6-4, 7-5 in the second round and Jim Schmidt of Houston, 6-7, 6-1, 6-2 in the third.

Forrest Stewart of Los Angeles, in the tourney for the first time and seeded eighth, beat Jerry DeWitts of Tiburon, 6-2, 6-2, in the third round. He won his second round match with George Herring of Oakland by default.

The quarter-final matchups scheduled today were: Brown vs. Stewart, Landin vs. Mayne, Duesler vs. Reed and Hagist vs. Kierbow.

The first round of doubles matches provided the only upset of the day yesterday. The eighth-seeded team of Brown and Darrah were beaten, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, by Joe Njoku-obi and Stan Altshuler.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Did success spoil Ray Floyd?

"Yes," said the first round leader of the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who shot a five-under-par 65 in yesterday first round, with a record-setting 29 on the front side, is having his best season since 1969 when he won three tournaments, including the PGA championship.

During that year he also won the Jacksonville Open and this same American Golf Classic, setting a Firestone course record in the process with a 12-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I think it made me lazy," Floyd said of his earlier successes. "I got to thinking I was so good I didn't have to practice."

But now he works on his game and credits that, along with his marriage last December, with turning his game around.

"It was the best round I've played in quite a time," said Floyd, who carried a one-shot lead over Brian Allin and a two-stroke edge over Jerry McGee into today's second round.

Floyd blistered the 7,180-yard Firestone course with five birdies in his first six holes, including putts of 25, 35 and 70 feet.

"I just can't remember having a better putting round," he said.

He said he also had several putts on the back side which could have dropped, but didn't. He got his only bogey in his 29-36 round on the 17th hole when he bunkered his second shot.

Allin, a Vietnam veteran and graduate of Brigham Young University, said he played "good" but "not super."

Jim Ferriell came in with a two-under 68 to hold fourth place all alone and there were six players, including host pro Bobby Nichols at one under 69. The others included Jim Simons, Gay Brewer, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and Forrest Fezler.

There were another 14 players at even par 70, including Arnold Palmer and former PGA champion Dave Stockton.

and distribute the players to the existing teams.

Also confronting the ABA were decisions on what to do about owner Tedd Munchak's desire to move his Carolina Cougars out of North Carolina and about a bid by a Norfolk group to buy the Virginia Squires franchise from the league.

The financially beleaguered Virginia franchise was taken over by the league from owner Earl Foreman.

But he did not rule out possible franchise transfers to Los Angeles or Cincinnati. Munchak has expressed a strong interests in Cincinnati.

Storen said the league has received applications for franchises in Tampa, Fla.; El Paso, Tex.; the Schenectady-Albany, N.Y., area, and from a New York group interested in Los Angeles as well as other locations.

North-South Starting Units Set

It's billed as the North-South all-star baseball game, but it might just come down to Terra Linda vs. Redwood high schools.

Those two schools dominate the starting lineups for tomorrow night's game at Albert Field at 8 p.m.

Terra Linda will provide five starters for the North team, including the battery of Kevin Kirby (3-2, 3.26 earned run average) and catcher Ken Wolter. The other starting Trojans are Jim McCarthey at shortstop (.333), Jack Crimmins in left-field (.324) and Buck McCusker in rightfield (.457).

Marin County Athletic League Champion Redwood will have four starters on the South squad, with Jeff Luchessi as pitcher (4-0, 0.66), Doug Hartman as catcher (.263), Gary LaTorre at shortstop (.392) and league-leading hitter Phil Bacigalupi at third base (.467).

The coaches for the game will be Ray Kelleher of San Marin for the North and Dave Gonsalves of Marin Catholic for the South.

The series, which is a benefit for the Knights of Columbus scholarship program, stands at 3-1 in favor of the North.

Admission for the game is $2 for adults and $1 for students and children.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Striped Bass Fishing Better

Striped bass fishing in San Pablo Bay is improving.

In Tuesday's column, I mentioned there were two fish logged into the Loch Lomond Live Bait Barge derby. By the time that column hit the newsstands, the 10 spaces for registered derby fish were filled.

Tom Miller, Eric Slinger and Bruce Kline all from San Rafael High School came in with nine bass with a total weight of 125 pounds. Another angler, Earl Schlienger took the derby lead with a 20-plus pounder. The boys used a spreader leader with a number 151 pet spoon at one end, and a jet tailed jig (green and white in color) on the second leader end. They used pork rinds on each lure trolling both at Red Rock and the Richmond Bridge pilings. For weight, they used a two-ounce trolling sinker while fishing the last of the outgoing tide.

The next day, I saw about 20 boats out there. Several of the fellows yelled that they had a fish aboard. One group held up five fingers — I suppose they meant five fish, but most of the boats had zero. Some of the fellows blamed it on the muddiness of the bay from the rains. If it was slow from the muddy waters, by Saturday it should be cleared up for you.

Cliff Aufinson, skipper of the Bass Tub 11 called Wednesday night to say that the anglers aboard his party boat took 27 fish from 18 to 35 pounds near the Rock Pile in lower San Francisco Bay. Television Station Channel 4 was there to take some video shots.

INFORMATION sheets and application cards for the 11th annual special hunt for surplus buck antelope are now available from Department of Fish and Game offices and license agents.

Some 410 permits will be issued by public drawing for the hunt Aug. 24 through Sept. 2 in seven zones in Modoc, Lassen and eastern Shasta and Siskiyou counties.

Permits will be distributed as follows by area: Clear Lake, 135; Alturas, 100; East Warners; 10; East Lassen, 100; West Lassen, 15; Big Valley, 25; and Mount Dome, 25.

Applications must be filed on the application card and must reach the Department of Fish and Game license office in Sacramento by 5 p.m. July 16. The drawing will be held at the Resources Building, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, on July 18.

A maximum of two may apply as a party by submitting their applications in one envelope. Applicants should indicate first and second choices of the zones they wish to hunt.

Applicants must be over 16, citizens and residents of the state. Anyone who had been issued a permit in the last 10 years is ineligible.

No money should be submitted with applications. Successful applicants will be notified by mail immediately after the drawing and will be instructed to submit the $15 fee. They will have until Aug. 7 to claim permits, and unclaimed permits will go to alternates.

FISH AND GAME personnel last winter counted 4,747 longhorn antelope, the highest tally in the 21 years the department has conducted the census on California's northeastern plains.

In 10 years, hunters have taken more than 2,200 buck antelope while the Modoc, Lassen, Siskiyou and Shasta county herds have more than doubled. Some 304 antelope were taken by hunters last year with 385 permittees in the field. The Department of Fish and Game said that in recent years the antelope has experienced less competition from domestic grazing animals for the pronghorn's habitat.

Once plentiful throughout the flatlands of California, the antelope declined in numbers to well below 2,000 by mid-century. In addition to the northeast area, a few pronghorn are found in Mono County.

CALIFORNIA hunting licenses for 1974-75 seasons are on sale now with some 3,000 license agents and at Department of Fish and Game offices throughout the state.

The basic license costs $6. Junior licenses, which are required for hunters under 16, are $2. Also on sale are deer and bear tags at $2 and $1, respectively.

Duck and pheasant stamps, costing $1 and $2, respectively, will go on sale in September.

REGULATIONS BOOKLETS outlining the 1974-75 rules for hunting game mammals and furbearers, will be available from license agents and Fish and Game offices next month.

Remember, if you are going to apply for an antelope permit, you will need to buy the new 1974-75 license first.

Sweeney Quitting Raiders For Religion

Combined AP & UPI

MODESTO — Oakland Raiders reserve wide receiver Steve Sweeney is quitting football, apparently to better follow the teachings of his religion.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported that Sweeney, who lives with his mother and sister in Modesto, is a member of Jehovah's Witnesses. Together, all three study for hours each night and often attend assemblies in Oakland.

The 6-foot-3 end played behind Mike Siani and Fred Biletnikoff last season where he caught two passes for 52 yards and one touchdown.

The Raiders drafted Sweeney in the ninth round in 1973. He had been named to the all-coast team for three years while playing at California and set nearly all of Cal's pass receiving records.

Basketball

NEW YORK — Two National Basketball Association veteran centers are retiring today but for different reasons.

New York Knicks' Willis Reed, a 10-year-veteran, was faced with undergoing right knee surgery to play again; he decided not to have the operation. Meanwhile, the New Orleans Jazz said they want 13-year veteran Walt Bellamy to play for them. However, Bellamy said he is quitting because of the expansion team's attitude and a dispute with his former employer, the Atlanta Hawks.

AGAINST DODGERS TONIGHT

Moffitt Makes First Start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Walter Alston says it isn't a time for worry, even though his Los Angeles Dodgers have lost three games in a row and have only won three times in their last 11 outings.

Instead, Alston says it's up to the Dodgers to make sure they don't become overly concerned about the losses which have trimmed the Los Angeles lead in the National League West to five games over Atlanta.

The dodgers, who lost three in a row at Pittsburgh, were idle yesterday and open a home stand tonight at 7:30 against the San Francisco Giants.

Andy Messersmith, 7-2, pitches for the Dodgers while the Giants are calling on Randy Moffit, their relief ace, who will be making the first start of his three-year major league career.

The Giants went to Moffitt when Tom Bradley, originally scheduled to start tonight, came down with shoulder trouble. The San Francisco staff was already depleted by the tendonitis afflicting Mike Caldwell's elbow.

Moffitt has only pitched in relief for the Giants since he came up from their Phoenix farm team in 1972.

He has a 3-2 record with an earned run average of 2.70 this season.

The 25-year-old brother of tennis queen Billy Jean King says he doesn't see much of a personal difference between the starting and reliever roles.

"You still have to throw strikes with something on them, whichever way you go, start or relieve. I'll go as far as I can with the best stuff I've got."

ALPHA BETA'S NEWEST

Alpha Beta moved in with new management and a new look at the old Mayfair markets in San Rafael this week. Jim Mundy, manager, (at left) and Vice President George H. Oatman are making sure that everything is spic and span for the grand opening at the Third and Union streets store. The second Alpha Beta store in San Rafael opened simultaneously at Fourth and Ida streets. The rapidly expanding Alpha Beta chain plans additional outlets in Mill Valley, Novato, and Petaluma.

Economy: New Signs Of Strain

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The groans of an economy straining against its limitations are being heard now from almost every direction.

The latest report of tension comes from the banking industry, where a survey shows that losses on commercial loans rose 24 per cent last year to an average of $26 for each $10,000 of business. The average in 1972 was $21.

The survey, by Robert Morris Associates, made up of bank loan and credit officers, shows that total write-offs by the 473 banks surveyed amounted to $374 million. The banks involved in the study represent about 65 per cent of commercial bank loans.

This survey report follows one by Business Week magazine that suggests many utilities are feeling the strain too, and are trying to cover it over from investors by paying out more in dividends than they are earning.

Of 21 utilities studied, it said, actual profits fell short of dividends by $240.3 million.

Earlier signs of deteriorating credit conditions have appeared in stock market margin, installment loans and home mortgages.

In April, the New York Stock Exchange announced, "The quality of security credit deteriorated noticeably." Margin debit in accounts under 40 per cent equity rose to $1.98 billion.

Margin in the stock market is like a down payment in the automobile or housing markets.

The delinquency ratio, or the proportion of repayments that are at least 30 days overdue, continues high in the installment loan category. Early this year it reached 2.69 per cent, a record high.

Big Velvet Turtle Restaurant Preparing For Aug. 1 Opening

Velvet Turtle's new Marin County restaurant, which is taking shape on the hill just north of the Marin County Civic Center, is expected to open for business about Aug. 1.

The 11,200-square-foot building with tile roof is similar in construction to the other Velvet Turtle restaurants in California.

Richard Quistgard of Menlo Park, vice president and general manager of Saga Enterprises, the parent company, said the Velvet Turtle in San Rafael will have seating for about 250 and parking for about 150 cars. Main entry to the hilltop restaurant will be up the hill from the Civic Center side, with a second entry to be built at the Terra Linda turnoff.

Quistgard said landscaping will be extensive, almost $200,000 worth, with the bulk of the landscaping cost to be borne by the property owner, Nicolaisen Bros. of San Rafael.

The Velvet Turtle, featuring prime rib, steak and sea food, will be open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. The restaurant chain, headquartered in Redondo Beach in Southern California, now has 17 outlets, 16 in California and one in Houston, Tex. The San Rafael restaurant will be the 18th in the chain.

Rotbauer will take over the shop at 640 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Richard T. Grohs of Forest Knolls and Siegfried Stuehmke of San Rafael, who have operated the repair shop for five years. Grohs said he plans to take a long vacation and go into some other line of work in Seattle, Wash.

The new owner plans to retain the name Autohaus and continue the same services.

JOHN S. RILEY of San Rafael has opened a new real estate investment brokerage office in the Park Marin Center in Corte Madera. His major activities will be on apartments, condominium conversions, land development and sale leasebacks.

Formerly with Grubb & Ellis' Investment Division in San Francisco, Riley is now at 21 Tamal Vista Boulevard, suite 126, in Corte Madera. The lease was arranged by Drew Juvinall of the Niles Co. Juvinall also arranged a lease in the same Park Marin Center for Rockwell International Corp.

ROCKWELL INTERNATIONAL Corporation Flow Control Division relocated its Northern California sales office from Oakland to the Park Marin Office Center. Harold Hosford of San Rafael is the office manager of the Flow Division, which manufactures valves for pipelines, refineries, chemical plants and nuclear power plants.

IMPERIAL SAVINGS & Loan Association office in Petaluma will move at the end of this month from the Petaluma Plaza on North McDowell Boulevard and reopen July 1 in the Washington Square Shopping Center, 1420 East Washington Street. Imperial Savings will take over space vacated by the Bank of America, which moved into a larger building in the same shopping center.

Grand opening of the new office of Imperial Savings will start with ribbon cutting at 9 a.m. on July 1, followed by a two-week celebration featuring cookies, cakes and balloons for customers. The new office has a vault and safety deposit boxes for customers. Eleanor Finley will continue as manager of the Petaluma office.

THE ADDY AWARD in the 1974 national American Advertising Federation competition went to two Marin County men for creating the best direct mail advertising campaign in the nation.

Winners were Charles Weckler of Sausalito, San Francisco advertising photographer, and Jack Jannes of San Rafael, vice president and art director at Dancer, Fitzgerald, Sample Inc. of San Francisco.

They joined forces to produce a three-part advertisement for the California Printing Co., San Francisco. One of the mailers was a large, full color poster of a bobby-sox girl of the 1940's leaning against a vintage 1947 Rock-Ola jukebox.

CROSSROADS PLAZA CENTER, a five-acre commercial area, to serve The Crossroads residential development on South Novato Boulevard near Black Point cutoff, is being planned by American Development Corp. of Torrance.

It would be located on the northeast corner of Redwood Boulevard and South Novato Boulevard, across the street from the firehouse. Preliminary plans call for a grocery store or market, possibly a drug store, and a few specialty shops.

Construction schedules are not yet set because an environmental impact report is needed, and that alone will take a couple of months.

AUTOHAUS foreign auto repair at The Hub in San Anselmo will be sold to a new owner from Petaluma, John Rotbauer, on July 1.

Earnings Down

Veteran Of Market Refuses To Despair

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Considering the sorry state of the stock market and inflation, I fail to see how you can justify continued recommendation of common stocks. — L.T.

A. Anyone who has spent a lifetime — or almost that — in the investment business has answered that question many times, particularly after a bear market of any duration. Just as confidence knows no bounds at the top, discouragement is dominant at the bottom. I don't have to look back very far — the late '40s — to recall the pessimism that was rampant in that postwar period.

Pundits then were predicting that the United States was in for rough times and the dollar was through. Well, that was the beginning of the longest and strongest bull market in history. The Dow Average moved from 175 to 1000 in two decades.

Prospects may not look good at present, but when the economic outlook becomes clearly favorable the bottom will be long past. Those who have waited for that time will have to pay much higher prices for stocks. Bargains are available only when the outlook is black.

Investors should not let the present pessimism get the best of them — rather they should make it work for them by having the courage to stay with good stocks and to make new purchases while outstanding values are still available.

Q. We have liquid assets of $59,000 (T-Bills, savings and term accounts) plus a home. In addition, we have $11,000 in bonds, $5,000 in a bond fund and $20,000 in common stocks. Would you review our enclosed list of assets and suggest any changes necessary for safety and income? — P.C.

A. Both your bond and stock portfolios are comprised of good-quality issues which provide generous returns. I see no reason to make any changes in these holdings. Certainly, you could increase your income from the proportionately large amount of liquid assets which you hold. I would suggest withdrawing $10,000 from savings now and reinvesting at maturity your T-Bill and $10,000 term account in high-yield, good quality bonds.

Wall Street Reacts To Glum News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices moved lower today on the heels of two unfavorable news items, but the selling pressure eased around noon on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

First National City Bank of New York, which recently lowered its prime rate to 11 ¼ per cent without much support, moved it back to the prevailing 11 ½ per cent rate. The prime rate is that charged key corporate customers. Morgan Guaranty also raised the rate. High interest rates have disturbed investors for months.

Investors got little comfort from a government report which showed the cost of living index rose 1.1 per cent in May.

Ponderosa System was the most active issue, off 1 ⅛ at 16 ⅝ on 134,400 shares.

Some glamors came under attack. Corning Glass and McDonald's lost 2 apiece, Johnson & Johnson 1 ¼ and Xerox 1.

Other groups moved little.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex was the most active Amex issue, off ⅞ at 42 ¾ on 51,300 shares.

San Rafael Firm Reveals Sale Of Insurance Arm

Amax Financial Corp. at 1050 Northgate Drive, San Rafael, announced the sale of its subsidiary, American Pacific Life Insurance Co. of California, to The Capitol Life Insurance Co. of Denver.

Frank J. McCormack, president of Amax Financial, said his company and Capitol Life Insurance also entered into a loan agreement, under which Capitol Life has a 10-year option to purchase 51 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Amax Financial. In addition, under a 10-year marketing agreement, Amax Financial will sell insurance policies of Capitol Life and American Pacific.

Amax Financial is using the proceeds to reduce its outstanding debt and for additional working capital. The corporation is a financial services company that provides financial planning, life insurance, mutual funds, real estate and tax incentive securities.

Capitol Life Insurance is a subsidiary of Associates Corporation of North America, the financial services arm of Gulf and Western Industries Inc.

Tobacco Firm Eyes Going Into Pen Field

NEW YORK (UPI) — Waterman of France and Allied Products Division of Consolidated Cigar Corp. recently made a marketing agreement to bring the Waterman pen name back to the U.S. market.

A. N. Brainard, president of Consolidated Cigar, said the distribution agreement reached between the two companies is the first step in his organization's diversification into nontobacco products.

HAPHAZARD CAREER

'Maude' Elevates Actor To An Overnight Star

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Macy was flat on his back in his one-room apartment in New York recovering from an injury received in "O Calcutta!" The telephone rang.

It was his agent, asking him to audition for a part in a new Broadway show, "And Miss Reardon Drinks Little."

"If you're a professional actor, your head is geared toward a part in a play someone is producing," said Macy, explaining at some length how he came to be Walter on "Maude."

"I'd hurt myself in 'O Calcutta!' doing a leap a year earlier and the pain had come back. The phone rings, and I'm not about to tell a producer about my injury."

Macy said he read for the part and was called back two more times before he got it. After three months on Broadway, the show went on the road, with a final stop in Los Angeles.

In his hotel room in Pittsburgh he saw "All in the Family" for the first time. "I called my agent in New York and told him that when he got to Los Angeles I wanted to play a part in 'All in the Family,' " he said.

"He laughed at me and said, 'Yeah, and who do you know on the show?' He started naming people and when he said Norman Lear I told him to stop."

Norman Lear, executive producer of "All in the Family," had seen Macy several times on Broadway and had written him letters of appreciation. He also had given Macy a walk-on part in "The Night They Raided Minsky's," a movie filmed in New York.

Macy got a part — seven lines as a cop.

After that, Lear created "Maude" and wrote the part of Walter with Macy in mind.

So, at 51, after a long and haphazard career as an actor, never making more than $175 for a role, Macy suddenly became an overnight star.

This weekend ABC's "Reasoner Report" will take a tongue-in-cheek look at the booming Watergate industry. A piece put together by producer George Merlis examines bumper stickers, games, books, lecture tours and TV appearances.

Farr's Indefinite Jail Sentence Lifted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An indefinite jail sentence against newsman William Farr was finally lifted yesterday, three years after it was imposed for his refusal to name sources for a story he wrote during the Charles Manson murder trial.

Superior Court Judge William H. Levit ruled there was no substantial likelihood that further imprisonment of the 39-year-old reporter would force him to reveal the identity of his sources.

"I am delighted that a nightmare is apparently coming to an end and I am grateful to the judge for what I consider to be a fair and well reasoned opinion," Farr said of Levit's decision.

"Now I will be able to plan my private and professional life in a way which was impossible while the sentence remained indefinite."

Farr, who wrote the controversial story for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner in 1970 but now works for the Los Angeles Times, served 46 days of the open-ended contempt of court sentence imposed by the Manson trial judge, Charles Older.

In his 20-page opinion, Levit said there is an established principle in the news profession that once a news reporter has made an assurance of confidentiality to a source, he has an ethical responsibility to his profession and his source to honor his promise "even in the face of a valid court order to the contrary."

"This principle is believed by newsmen to be essential to the effective gathering and publication of news," he said.

At the time Farr wrote the story, attorneys, court attaches and witnesses were under court order not to release testimony or evidence which might have come before the court for a ruling on admissibility. Farr has said only that his sources were two attorneys.

The story outlined purported plans by Manson and others to kill Hollywood celebrities.

WILLIAM FARR
Some good news

Farr must now return to Older's court, where he could receive a new contempt sentence. However, unlike the first sentence, it could not be open-ended. It would be limited to five days imprisonment and a $500 fine or both.

Farr's attorney, Mark Hurwitz, said of the possibility of a new sentence, "We're going to strenuously resist it."

Ironically, Farr could face yet another contempt charge. He is expected to be called before a county grand jury investigating whether two attorneys in the Manson trial lied by testifying they did not give him the information for the news account. Farr, who has said only that he got his information from two of the six attorneys involved in the Manson trial has said he would again refuse to identify his sources. The grand jury could also hold him in contempt.

A hearing before Levit was ordered by an appeals court which asked him to decide when the indefinite jail term became punishment rather than coercion to name the sources.

Prime-Time Access Rule Plays Havoc

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks say a federal appeals court ruling freezing the prime-time access rule is forcing a hurried reshuffling of the fall program lineup.

The networks say some of the programs may be shifted to other nights, bumping shows already scheduled for those nights. Still other programs may not debut until January as a result of Tuesday's ruling by a three-judge panel in the U.S. Court of Appeals here.

The controversy centers on the 1971 access rule limiting a network to no more than three hours of programming in the peak evening viewing hours between 7 and 11 p.m.

Late last year the Federal Communications Commission said it would modify the rule, allowing the networks to use all four prime-time hours on Saturday and Sunday as well as an additional half-hour during the week to televise a documentary, public affairs program or children's special. In February the FCC said it planned to implement the access rule changes this September.

The National Association of Independent Television Producers and Distributors filed suit to block the effective date. The appeals court agreed that revising the prime time rules this year would cause serious harm to independent producers, who sell syndicated shows to stations anxious to fill the broadcast time barred to the networks. The court said no change can be made at least until September 1975.

The ruling means that the networks will have to eliminate one hour of fall programming scheduled for the 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday night slot as well as the week night half-hour.

Impeachment Ball Is A Sellout

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Impeachment Ball, organized by a "bunch of nobodies" who want a fair and open trial for President Nixon, is a sellout.

Organizer Robert Caughlan, Palo Alto, said Wednesday that all 500 tickets at $10 each have been purchased for Saturday night's event at the Sheraton-Palace.

Caughlan said a "bunch of nobodies" decided to throw the bash because they wanted Nixon "to have his day in court."

Proceeds will be given to the American Civil Liberties Union.

BANGKOK (UPI) — American airmen on a U.S. Air Force Base in Central Thailand have collected 45,000 pennies in a drive to recirculate the scarce coins, U.S. Military Authorities said yesterday.

An Alcoholism Insurance Program To Be Initiated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $500,000 alcoholism insurance program covering 140,000 state, county and city employees and their families will begin July 1, it was announced yesterday.

The pilot program, which will be administered by the state Office of Alcohol Program Management, will be funded under alcoholism prevention legislation SB 204 by Sen. Arlen Gregario, D-San Mateo.

The plan will cover those employees enrolled in state health benefits plans.

Gregorio said many city employees in Sunnyvale, San Mateo, Hillsborough, and Burlingame are included.

"Early prevention and rehabilitation services, made available thrugh private insurance at low cost, can help turn the tide in the so far losing battle against our most serious drug problem — alcoholism," Gregorio said. "This program shows us the way."

He said maximum benefits include 27 days of in-patient care, 30 days of recovery home residence and 45 days out-patient visits.

The program will run through June 30, 1975, at which time its effectiveness will be studied, he said.

Very Nice Deal For Dairy Ranchers

It's nice of the Marin County Board of Supervisors to want to do something for Marin's dairy ranchers, many of whom have their backs to the wall financially.

The dairy ranchers are being squeezed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board to install drainage and disposal systems to prevent pollution of water sources by runoff from their corrals. Such things cost plenty of money. With the high price of cattle feed, the dairymen don't have much money to spend.

SO SUPERVISOR Gary T. Giacomini, whose Fourth District includes most of the dairy ranches, figured out a way for the county to help.

The county would pay all interest above 5 per cent on loans by local banks to dairymen for improvements demanded by the Water Quality Control Board.

To finance such interest subsidies for the first year, the supervisors put $55,000 in next fiscal year's budget. Giacomini figures the cost would triple the following year.

Very nice!

BUILDERS ARE in a similar situation to dairy ranchers. They are required, by various governmental agencies with overlapping jurisdictions, to have soil tests made, environmental impact reports prepared, etc. All of these cost money.

Unlike the dairymen, whose products are subject to state price-fixing, the builders can pass their costs along to home buyers. As many people have pointed out, the price of homes in Marin County has gone out of sight.

This works an extreme hardship on a much larger class of people than the dairy ranchers.

Shouldn't the board of supervisors use some of our tax money to pay for those environmental impact reports, soil tests, etc., so that a home would not cost so much? Or how about the county paying all above 5 per cent of the interest on new home loans?

There are other classes squeezed by assorted government regulations and crying for relief, also. But you get the idea.

WE ASKED a couple of attorneys for off-the-cuff opinions on the county's plan.

Attorney John G. Buresh, who is no stranger to the field as he served for many years as city attorney of San Anselmo, called it "an unconstitutional gift of public funds."

"I'm outraged that they could even consider such a thing," said Buresh.

Attorney Thomas P. Boyd agreed that the proposal appears a gift of public funds to a particular class, which would be illegal.

WE THINK it's a nice idea, though — especially since we expect to have to lay out some money soon for more "anti-smog" and "safety" gadgets on our automobile, decreed by other governmental entities. Maybe we and the rest of the car owners could get the county to pay some of those costs.

Not that it would do us any good. It's our money they're giving away.

Planted 'Leaks' Taint Impeachment Process

WASHINGTON — It is a careful statement of fact to report that the House Judiciary and the Ervin Watergate committees are out of control. They are recklessly out of control.

I say recklessly because they are now on the brink of undermining their own credibility.

The proof that both the House and Senate investigative committees are out of control is that even after the chairmen said the faceless, one-sided leaks of the results of uncompleted investigations must be stopped, they continued unabated.

WHEN ARE THESE committees and their staffs and the entire Congress going to realize that the whole impeachment proceedings are being gravely damaged by this unchecked tactic of leak and innuendo?

Here is the one issue on which the opponents and the supporters of President Nixon and the critics and admirers of Secy. of State Henry Kissinger can and should unite.

If this practice of faceless, purposeful leaks is not brought to a halt soon, the decision reached by the Judiciary Committee or the House — whether for or against impeachment — will be tainted, and the public can have little confidence in it.

I can't see how either those who want the president impeached or those who hope he will not be impeached can want this to happen.

HERE IS THE WAY the Washington Post reported it:

'One day last week one of those mysterious House Judiciary Committee 'sources,' who routinely has doled out tidbits of confidential information, had some bad news for the reporters gathered daily in his office.

" 'I've decided,' he said, 'that I just can't help you anymore.'

"He explained that the news leaks on the committee's impeachment inquiry had become so numerous and had been so prominently played in the press that the work of the committee has been endangered."

And on the same day — and the next and the next — more one-sided leaks continued, one giving part of a Judiciary Committee staff memo and another "citing secret grand jury testimony."

THE ISSUE HERE is not whether information in the hands of the Judiciary Committee adverse to the president is being covered up. It isn't; it will all come out when it is reported publicly to the House. The issue is whether those parts of it putting the president in the worst light can be leaked piecemeal without destroying public confidence in the work of the committee itself.

This is not the ex parte view of a Nixon defender. This is the storm warning of a Nixon critic, former Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, who describes these leaks as comparable to what Sen. Joseph McCarthy was doing in the 50s. Cox says:

"Should not the same objections be raised when the staff or possibly some members of congressional committees leak the results of incompelte investigations, give out accusatory inferences they draw from secret testimony, and even release proposed findings of guilt?"

But they continue, and nothing effective is being done to stop them.

CHAIRMAN PETER RODINO Jr., D-N.J., "deplores" them, but they are not being halted. He admits that his committee will "lose public confidence" if it fails to protect against such leaks.

But it isn't protecting against them and is thereby putting the whole impeachment process in jeopardy.

Southern Baptist Convention Proves It's Come A Long Way

DALLAS — Dallas has changed.

Twenty years ago, a young Marine driving coast to coast for the first time found out night life in Dallas was a few sleazy strip joints where the only drink you could buy legally was near-beer.

It is not to pick a fight with the Southern Baptists to recall that that was the way they liked it. Of course, they did not patronize sleazy strip joints or consume near-beer in place of Coke. But they were prime movers in the crusade that kept Texas and most of the South dry well into the third quarter of the 20th Century.

Now, having retired from night life, that old Marine finds that in Dallas you don't have to go looking for it any more. You can walk into the lobby of a respectable downtown hotel and off to your right you see two young women dressed in negligible black lace togs that are little more than the girls wore in those sleazy strip joints of two decades back. These are waitresses in the hotel's lounge, which is done up in the mode of what hotel decorators conceive to be a library, and in which you can name your drink.

AND LAST WEEK, the Southern Baptist Convention was officially convening in that very hotel, coexisting side by side with black lace and bourbon whisky.

Thus far has Dallas come, and the Southern Baptists, along with the rest of us.

Even considering that Dallas has been a phenomenon of postwar growth, and that the public morals everywhere have elasticized mightily, it may be that the Southern Baptists have come furthest of all.

I venture this not primarily as commentary on where they stood 20 years ago, but more as notice of the things they said and voted on here last week. Tolerating the symbols of sin in the hotel lobby was the least of it.

They were even colder toward a trashy sideshow going on just outside the lobby. There pamphlets were being passed out as Gerald Ford passed by. They purported to be from something called the Branch Davidian Seventh-Day Adventist Association in East Waco.

On their cover was a drawing of Mr. Nixon's head, centered on a cross of gold and surmounted by a crown of thorns. "Catholics Crucify Nixon!" they asserted, and inside they charted a laborious course toward proving that the entire Watergate scandal was a Roman Catholic plot to frame the President.

TURNING UP THEIR noses at such nostalgic literature, the Southern Baptists looked hard at the present and future. Predictably, they affirmed their opposition to federal aid for nonpublic schools. About as predictably, they endorsed peace but declined to approve draft-dodging.

When the debate on resolutions came to abortion, they refused to panic in either direction, despite the heightened pressure of "Right to Life" activists since the Supreme Court decision of 17 months ago.

Essentially they reaffirmed that what was moral in 1971 is moral today — by voting again for a stand taken that year, calling for legislation to allow abortion under severe circumstances, but by rejecting an amendment opposing abortion for any reason.

But if for no other reason than the name of their organization, their resolution against racism was the milestone of their convention. They turned down an amendment against "preferential treatment" for different races, which meant quota systems and school busing.

Then they upheld the resolution that urged Baptists to "renew our commitment to the Bible teaching of justice for all human beings regardless of race, and that we work earnestly for racial justice in public education, employment, health care, housing, consumer concerns and citizen participation in the political process." Racism, it declared, is "theologically untenable, politically destructive and fatally dehumanizing."

This, friends, from the Southern Baptist Convention, meeting in Dallas, Tex., in June of 1974.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

'Constitution Of The Sea' Poses Intricate Problems

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Some 140 nations are starting in Caracas, Venezuela, a new attempt to write a "constitution of the sea." Upon the ultimate success of such efforts the question of feast or famine for the world may ultimately depend.

But the complexity of the problem is illustrated by the fact that even within the United States there is no agreement upon its solution.

IN SAN DIEGO, Calif., tuna fishermen regard any move by the United States to recognize a nation's right to control fishing 200 miles off its shores as a sell-out to blackmail.

For years they have battled Chile, Peru and Ecuador and suffered seizure of their boats in their pursuit of the giant tuna off South American shores. The three countries are among 11 Latin American nations claiming jurisdiction 200 miles off their shores.

On the other hand, New England and Pacific northwest fishermen say they are being driven to bankruptcy by the huge Russian, Japanese and other fleets operating almost within sight of the U.S. coastline.

They favor extension of the present U.S. 12-mile limit on fishing rights to at least 200 miles.

THERE ARE OTHER disputes.

The Pentagon opposes an extension of offshore limits because it fears any move that might cripple the rights of the navy to maneuver through the world's waters at will.

Especially, it fears any move that might end free access to any of the world's 116 straits.

In this it is joined by the Soviet Union.

Petroleum and mining interests also would like to see limits extended.

Environmentalists want them tightly controlled.

At other conferences, the environmentalists already have obtained passage of conventions governing dumping of sewage and other waste in the oceans and control on tankers carrying oil.

THESE LIKE OTHER questions involving international agreement, require individual ratification and will take years to become effective. The same problem faces the meeting in Caracas.

U.S. delegates to the Caracas conference have listed eight issues upon which the United States hopes for agreement at the conference.

They are the limits of the territorial seas; transit through straits; conservation and management of fisheries; exploitation of mineral resources; establishment of an international authority to govern mining of the deep sea beds for manganese, copper, nickel and cobalt; protection against pollution; guarantee of freedom of oceanic research, and creation of a tribunal to arbitrate sea disputes.

Nations attending the conference divide roughly into three groups. They are the major maritime powers, developing nations with a coastline and some 50 landlocked nations or those with limited coastlines.

Each of these has his own interests to pursue.

For instance, landlocked nations hope to limit national claims so they may share in exploitation of the world's oceans under an international authority.

"A penny for my thoughts? I've got 10 piggy banks full of them."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

$20,000-Up Salaries Go To Administrators

In your June 14 issue, you published the entire list of Tamalpais Union High School District employees together with their salaries. Certainly you have the right to do this, but of what earthly use is it when it is filled with inaccuracies and presented in such a way as to encourage misinterpretation?

I would like to point out that with the possible exception of one teacher of longstanding prominence in our district, all those making over $20,000 are administrators.

Personally, I am not at all happy to see my salary quoted at about $4,000 over what it actually is. I know of at least two other teachers who were similarly victimized. And who else?

I assume you computed my salary from the amount on my May paycheck. I have elected to take my salary in 10 installments rather than 12 so to get an accurate figure, you must multiply my May check by 10.

Your shallow combativeness on some issues is becoming predictable, but I must hope that your next move shows more class.

Warning Comes True; Now 'Go Back To Sleep'

You warned us that the board of supervisors would do it — and they did. Now each one will have an administrative assistant. And more, according to last night's paper, the board, among 80 Marin County officials, will as of July 1, share in a $186,000 pay increase.

Behind closed doors, Mr. Arrigoni, Mr. Giacomini, and Mr. Barrows agreed that the increases were for merit and cost of living. Yet, in at least one case the voters turned one of the incumbents out of office just two weeks ago. And in another case the office is vacant through retirement of the capable incumbent. Many of these elected officials have just finished seeking their offices in vigorous campaigning, which makes no sense if they were underpaid. Of course, our cost of living will go up.

Separately, I have written to Mr. Arrigoni, who represents me, saying that "leadership requires both sacrifice of time and effort." In these actions, the board shows that it is not doing a very commendable job, at least in my opinion, of managing our money for us.

Now that I have this out of my system, I guess I can go back to sleep and remain my normal apathetic self, for that is indeed what most of us do.

Fairness In Coverage Of Primaries Commended

This is just a brief note to express my appreciation for the endorsement extended to me in the race for the Republican nomination for the constitutional office of treasurer.

I am confident that the voters within the area of your readership found the editorial guidance quite helpful in reaching a decision at the polls.

Additionally, I wish to commend the Independent-Journal for its fairness and thoroughness in reporting the political activities of the primary election.

Taxpayers Benefit From Privilege Rentals

I was intrigued by the article in last Saturday's I-J reporting that the rustic cabins in Steep Ravine in Mount Tamalpais State Park would now be demolished.

As I recall, these cabins were rented to "wealthy" San Franciscans for $41.66 per month. This scandalous practice was apparently exposed by the Independent-Journal in 1972, which prompted Senator Behr to offer legislation ordering the leases terminated. After some negotiations it has now been decided that there is no point in continuing these cabins and they will be demolished.

I just want to congratulate the I-J on its continuing outlook for the welfare of the taxpayers of the State of California.

Let's add up the bill. In the first place, during the past many years the state has been receiving approximately $7,000 a year from these so-called "wealthy" San Franciscans for the rental of a 40-year-old cabin which contained only the bare necessities (no electricity) and I wonder if they were really worth this kind of a rental. In any event, instead of this $7,000 the state is now going to spend $33,360 to have them demolished. So, with your untiring efforts you have not only cost us the loss of the $7,000 per year — but you've also cost the people $33,360 to tear down these valuable and extremely desirable buildings.

With people like you for friends who needs enemies!

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

George Wallace sends out a questionnaire asking how people would vote if the 1972 presidential election were held today. Maybe he should have asked whether.

Political reform is in the air, and some people say that's the trouble — it never seems to come down to earth.

It's hard to follow all the Watergate action. Congress ought to have a Committee To Help People Keep the Committees Straight.

Supervisors Look Ridiculous With Strut And Posturing

There is far too much brazen action tumbling from the throne room out at Brasilia, which should have comment and analysis, to be covered in the space available. So it will have to extend into the next issue or two.

Once again let me say that the obligation of the supervisors is not in any way that of the U. S. Congress or Senate at Washington, D.C., nor of the Assembly and Senate at Sacramento. Congress has authority over all of the nation in the fields provided in the Constitution. The Legislature at Sacramento has jurisdiction over the entire state in those fields not covered by the federal government.

The counties are an arm of the state. The boards of supervisors' authority is limited to that which is delegated at Sacramento.

IN MARIN COUNTY the legislative power of the supes is limited to just one-third of the county. The only exception is in those matters in which there is a direct delegation that permits them to go into the cities in such departments as health and welfare. In those matters they are only acting for the state in carrying out state and federal programs.

Except in those counties which have a charter form of operation, county government is strictly a housekeeping job. You elect the department heads in all general law counties. The supervisors have no jurisdiction or authority over them except budgeting. I think if it came to a showdown they could be mandated to supply the necessary force and equipment.

So the posture and strut of the supes is ridiculous: health and welfare, planning (only in the one-third of the county), data processing, parks and recreation, roads and general maintenance is just about the scope of their domain. Oh yes, and the county counsel.

ONE MIGHT ADD the administrator's office, which incidently is being forced on you as you were not allowed to vote on it in 1961. You had turned it down in the '50s. There is a question who is running whom . . . the supes or the administrator. They abdicate and only occasionally turn down his recommendations. You may remember that I once wrote that he would make his former boss, Mr. "I am going to run this county and don't you forget it," look like an amateur.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"We have had a lot of golf players out here in California with us lately, they are just playing a regular circuit of tournaments. Why, it's like showbusiness in vaudeville. I saw 'em all playing in the professional championship, where the winner got I think $35,000. Now golf is no joke when it gets into jack like that. When there is 35,000 bucks strung along on the green and you have to project a little guttapercha missile into the empty end of a sardine can 20 feet away to get your clutches onto any part of that dough, I want to tell you neighbors, the humor of the game immediately vanishes into cold perspiration." — Dec. 29, 1929.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

The instinctive feeling of a great people is often wiser than its wisest men. — Lajos Kossuth.

A good newspaper and Bible in every house, a good schoolhouse in every district, and a church in every neighborhood, all appreciated as they deserve, are the chief support of virtue, morality, civil liberty, and religion. — Benjamin Franklin.

There is an insolence which none but those who themselves deserve contempt can bestow, and those only who deserve no contempt can bear. — Henry Fielding.

A man of integrity will never listen to any plea against conscience. — Henry Home.

You shall judge a man by his foes as well as by his friends. — Joseph Conrad.

How little do they see what really is, who form their hasty judgment upon that which seems. — Robert Southey.

Teachers Splitting Contracts At Three Mill Valley Schools

Two people sharing one teaching contract is an idea that seems tailor made to problems of schools and teachers in the 1970s.

On the one hand it lets school districts with declining enrollment cut back on teachers without laying anybody off. On the other hand it helps teachers fit jobs to changing lifestyles.

The past school year, one contract was shared this way in the Mill Valley School District. Next fall, three pairs of teachers will split contracts.

NAOMI SINGER and Barbara Phelps again will split care of a kindergarten class at Marin Terrace School, as they did the past year. One teacher comes in on Monday, Tuesday and part of Wednesday. The other works the rest of Wednesday and Thursday and Friday.

"I just wanted time for all the things I wanted to do," said Miss Singer, who has taught for six years. "I go hiking, horseback riding, read, travel, visit with people I don't normally see."

Barbara Phelps, also single and a teacher for four years, wanted time to work on an Old Mill Valley home she bought and is remodeling.

Living on half an income is one of the problems, of course, with splitting contracts. "Financially it's not very comfortable," says Miss Phelps. "I've had to cut out movies and dinners. I guess if I wanted to do this indefinitely I would have to have other means of support."

AT THE MILL VALLEY Middle School, Peggy Rabe, a 10-year teaching veteran, is splitting a contract so that she can take art classes, do volunteer work, and take a part-time consulting job.

Christine Herrmann, who is sharing a fourth grade class with a teacher at Strawberry Point School, is doing it partly to get more time to spend with her 15-month old baby. "Both of us sharing the contract have families and want to do justice to them and to our teaching," she said.

Mrs. Herrmann will teach mornings, and the other teacher will take over in the afternoons.

Mrs. Herrmann thinks the children in her class will do well because she and her partner are similar kinds of teachers. "We've seen each other in action enough to know we have similar styles and similar expectations of how children should be doing."

Terror Nuclear Bomb Is Held A Possibility

PALO ALTO (UPI) — A terrorist with proper technological training could build a crude nuclear bomb, a noted nuclear environmentalist said yesterday.

We believe it's possible that people with the requisite training, given the state of knowledge in the public domain, would be able to manufacture a crude fission bomb," said Mason Willrich, University of Virginia law professor and government consultant on nuclear arms and disarmament.

Addressing the annual United Press International California Editors' Conference, Willrich said the key to preventing such an occurrence is in developing safeguards to prevent theft of nuclear material.

He noted that with the current progress of nuclear power development in the United States, about one million kilograms of plutonium will be produced as waste material by nuclear reactors by the year 2000.

A nuclear device the size of the recent detonation by India would take only about five kilograms, he said.

In a study he recently coauthored for the Atomic Energy Commission on the risk of theft to a very low level can be developed," he said.

However, Willrich warned that the current approach by the AEC to safeguard nuclear material is inadequate. As examples he cited the dangers of transportation of nuclear materials between widespread power plants, the problem of making private industry responsible for the safety of nuclear materials and inadequate international agreements.

Willrich said besides the problems of terrorists, criminal groups may seek to steal nuclear material for profit by blackmail or manufacture and sale of nuclear devices, and governments may use their nuclear capabilities unwisely.

The recent explosion of a nuclear device by India is an indication of things to come in proliferation, Willrich said. He warned that strict safeguards must be placed on U.S. nuclear aid to Egypt and Israel announced by President Nixon during his Mideast Trip.

"Egypt is not going to be developing a nuclear capability tomorrow," he said. "It will be more than a decade before that possibility comes to fruition, but nonetheless, we are taking the first steps."

Willrich questioned the advisability of the Egyptian-Israeli agreements.

"If we have India becoming the sixth nuclear power and at the same time go into the Mideast where nuclear weapons are terribly destabilizing, I question the timing," Willrich said.

He suggested that as a condition of the agreements, the United States should have insisted that both Israel and Egypt agree to abide by the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

Illegal Prices Claimed In Tool Imports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department yesterday said that hand tools manufactured in Japan were being dumped on the U.S. market at illegally low prices.

The announcement follows a complaint by an unidentified American firm that wrenches, plyers, screw drivers, hammers and a variety of other nonpowered tools were being sold on the American market at lower cost than in Japan.

The case now goes to the Tariff Commission to determine if a domestic industry has been injured by the cut-rate tool imports. If the commission finds this to be the case, it will levy penalty custom duties on the imported tools.

About $37 million of these hand tools were imported by the United States in the 12-month period ending Jan. 31.

Arrest Worries Texas Politico

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby is hoping his 30-day probated jail sentence for drunk driving will not have political repercussions. But Gov. Dolph Briscoe is positive it will.

"I am extremely sorry and extremely regretful about this incident," Hobby said. "I certainly hope the citizens of Texas will judge me on the basis of all my actions."

Asked if Hobby's political opponents would use the incident to influence voters, Briscoe said, "you bet your life they will."

Hobby was arrested at 2:48 a.m. yesterday as he and a woman companion returned from a picnic. The officer who stopped Hobby said he followed the lieutenant governor's weaving vehicle for several blocks.

He pleaded no contest to a charge of driving while intoxicated. The judge sentenced him to 30 days in jail, but suspended the sentence for a nine-month probation period.

THE SOARING INFLATION

Life In Latin America Borders On Impossible

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — They're not shedding any tears in South America for North Americans lamenting inflation. Down here inflation has been a household cuss word for years.

In Chile last year the cost of living went up 700 per cent. It was already 87 per cent this year by April.

In Uruguay, the price index rose from 100 in 1963 to 9,939 in 1973 - an inflation rate of 10,000 per cent, according to the International Monetary Fund.

The price of an Argentine newspaper has gone up 200,000 per cent since 1944. It is as though an American who paid a dime for his paper after World War II now had to pay $200.

"A paper now costs 200 pesos," mused a banker here. "Twenty years ago I could take my girl friend to lunch, the movies, afternoon tea, buy her flowers and then go back out to the suburbs in a cab for 200 pesos. That's inflation!"

Wages have gone up, too, though generally at a lower rate. For most Latin Americans, life gets tougher every day. For the millions with no work, it borders on the impossible.

As serious as it is, inflation is just a part of life, like taxes and flat tires.

Economists list dozens of reasons for inflation, but the spiral basically is caused by more currency than goods on the market. As prices soar, wages follow, and prices climb again.

Plummeting devaluations against the U.S. dollar directly affect most economies here.

Governments in Brazil, Argentina, Boliva and Chile whacked three zeros off their currencies during the past 15 years so the units would be lower.

Since becoming independent in 1822, Brazil has gone from the real to the milreis to the cruzeiro to the new cruzeiro. Each new currency unit was worth 1,000 of the old.

If American currency had devaluated at the same rate, a George Washington today would have to throw $1 billion across the Potomac.

Most families buy things on time, despite high interest rates. They know that tomorrow's salary will be higher than today's price, so they stay as deeply in debt as they can in order to come out ahead.

A resident who bought an average car on a dollar contract a year ago in Santiago, Chile, for the equivalent of $7,000 has found the auto appreciated more than five times. He is careful not to wreck it.

The standard government approach has been to fix prices and, sometimes, wages. But the results are generally poor.

Merchants either ignore the fixed ceilings, or they take their goods off the market. Extensive black markets develop. Families suffer severe shortages of basic items.

The extreme examples of Latin American inflation are the world's worst.

Mexico, for example, went from 100 to 182, and Venezuela, with huge oil earnings, rose 100 to 124.

The United States' index for that period was 100 to 145.

Patricia Hearst Still In South?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police believe Patricia Hearst is still in this area, being sheltered by sympathizers, but they hope she hasn't become a better shot.

"We are working under the assumption" that Miss Hearst and two other Symbionese Liberation Army fugitives, Emily and William Harris, are still in this area, Cmdr. Peter Hagan said last night.

Hagan, the department's chief press relations official, told a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalistic society, that Miss Hearst is probably "under cover", and somebody is bringing her food, and clothing and medication.

Nixon Backer Urges Stoning

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Evangelist Billy James Hargis has proposed a campaign to stone congressmen and journalists who favor impeachment of President Nixon.

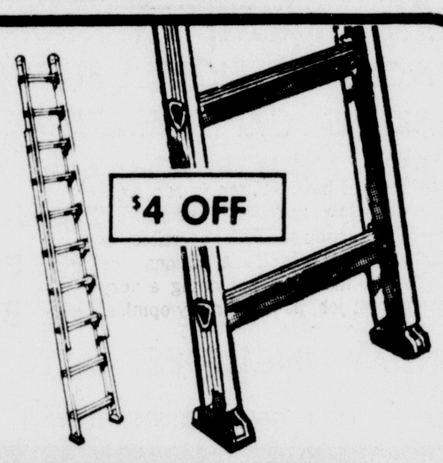

"I am asking one million Americans to collect a small stone from your rock garden, wrap a scripture provided on the back page (of his "Christian Crusade Weekly" newspaper) around it and mail it off to your impeachment-minded congressman," Hargis wrote in the June 23 issue of the newspaper.

The scripture is from the book of John 8:7 —"He that is without sin among you, let him cast a stone..."
